JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

EIGHTY-NINTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY

OF THE

STATE OF MISSOURI

FIRST REGULAR SESSION

FIRST DAY--WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1997

The Senate was called to order at 12:00 noon by Lieutenant Governor Roger Wilson.

The Reverend G. Dale Norfolk, Chaplain of the Senate, offered the following prayer:

Our Father in Heaven, we need Your help more than ever before. People are skeptical about our democratic process. Many see elected officials as finger pointers and blame finders instead of problem solvers. We pray that this session will be the one that restores faith in our government. We pray that this session will renew a pride in where we live, who we are and what we are about. In Jesus Name we pray. Amen.

Senator Quick announced that photographers from the Senate; KOLR-TV, Springfield; The Kansas City Star; the Associated Press; The Columbia Missourian; KDNL-TV, St. Louis; Jefferson City News Tribune; KPLR-TV, St. Louis; and KMIZ-TV, Columbia, had been given permission to take pictures in the Senate Chamber and gallery today and that guests had been given permission to use flash equipment.

Opening Address

Senate President Pro Tem

Bill McKenna

January 8, 1997

Lt. Gov. Wilson, Judge John Anderson, distinguished guests, fellow senators, friends and family members. I would like to welcome each of you to the opening of the First Regular Session of the 89th Missouri General Assembly.

At this time, I would like to introduce some people who are very special to me: my son, Ryan McKenna, daughter, Lisa McKenna and my special friend Debbie Bell.

It's only appropriate that I begin by thanking each of you for allowing me to serve this chamber and this great State as your president pro tem. Come May 16th, I might not be so grateful and you might not be so hopeful.

For all of us in public office it is a distinct honor and privilege to serve our fellow citizens. My constituents have bestowed this privilege upon me both in the House of Representatives and here in the Senate.

I consider myself very fortunate to have had the opportunity to serve this State as a lawmaker. Like each of you, I've worked long and hard to be worthy of the responsibilities my constituents have entrusted to me.

In addition to serving the people of my district, I now have the honor and privilege of serving my fellow senators and the citizens of this great State as president pro tem.

I can't think of a more impressive or demanding constituency than my peers. And like the citizens I represent, I hereby give each of you my pledge of honor to serve to the best of my talents and abilities.

I feel very lucky to follow in the footsteps of good leaders -- make that great leaders -- like presidents pro tem Jim Mathewson and John Scott -- and floor leaders like J. B. "Jet" Banks, the distinguished Senator from the Fifth.

As a citizen, I owe these gentlemen an enormous debt of gratitude for the time and personal sacrifices they have made for the people of this great State.

As a lawmaker, I greatly appreciate the experience and knowledge that they have shared with me. I have learned many things from each of them.

As president pro tem, I will endeavor to build upon their examples as leaders of the Missouri Senate. What a great job they have done. Thank all of you very much.

I was talking to the Senator from the 3rd and I told him I was a little worried about this new job and that I hoped to learn from my mistakes. The Senator from the 3rd looked at me and said "McKenna, with the amount of mistakes you've made in the Senate so far, you'll no doubt have plenty of learning opportunities."

There are only three lawmakers here today who can truthfully say they've never made a mistake on the floor of the Senate. Of course, those are the Senate's three new members. I'd like to take this opportunity to welcome to the Missouri Senate the new Senator from the 1st, Anita Yeckel, the new Senator from Boone, Ken Jacob and the new Senator from the 29th, Doyle Childers. I congratulate each of you on your election and I heartily welcome you to our Senate family.

As most of you know, the Senator from the 1st is a freshman legislator who, like all freshman lawmakers, is eager to conquer the world. I am sure she will do just fine. On the other hand, the Senate stands ready to help our two former State representatives overcome any bad habits they may have picked up in the House. I am supremely confident that the Senate will help our new colleagues get their feet wet, whether they want our help or not.

We all know that each General Assembly brings its own issues and challenges. Some are the kind of challenges elected officials in most states can only dream about: challenges like cutting taxes.

Let me say that again: CUTTING TAXES.

It would be hard to find a more popular issue than cutting taxes. The only drawback is that in this chamber we have more ideas on how to cut taxes than we have taxes to cut.

How we actually cut taxes will ultimately be left to the wisdom of this body. For more than 175 years, the wisdom of the Senate has steadfastly served the best interests of all Missouri citizens.

The best interests of Missouri citizens will continue to be our primary concern as we debate the recommendations made by the Missouri Citizens' Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials. This constitutional commission was created by the voters of this great State to set the salaries for elected officials in all three branches of government.

But in the end, it will be our collective responsibility to make the ultimate decision regarding the salary commission's recommendations. Unless of course we want to deadlock in a tie vote and let the Lt. Gov. take the heat. Whatever action we take, we're facing a February 1 deadline.

Other issues will have more time to be debated and ultimately resolved. But we can expect them to be just as challenging. For example:

* Even though Missouri is ahead of the national curve in welfare reform, recent federal legislation will bring even more changes in our welfare system.

* We have a federal EPA rule that increases air quality standards before we had the opportunity to meet the old air quality standards. What was once solely a St. Louis problem has now become a State-wide problem.

* Interim committees have been working on issues such as managed care, high school graduation rates, auto auctions and Missouri's probation and parole system.

* We have a 15 year highway plan that seems to be running out of gas after only 5 years. All of us anxiously await the report from the Governor's Total Transportation Commission.

* We may be looking at proposals to wind down court-ordered desegregation.

* And if the last election proved anything, it is that our campaign finance laws need further reform.

One thing is for sure: we won't run out of issues to address.

A full plate is nothing new for the Legislature. Yet at the dawn of the 89th Missouri General Assembly, this Senate must consider not only the issues we resolve, but also the deliberative, equitable and civil way that we resolve them.

The Missouri Senate is a unique political institution. It has been characterized in many ways, and is often referred to as a family.

A couple of weeks ago, all of us here in the Senate received a letter from Catherine Johnson. Catherine is moving from Sen. Mathewson's capitol office to work in his district office.

She addressed that letter simply to "Dear Family", and she reflected on her eight years here in the Senate.

"My first impression of our 'Senate Family' was borne out over time," she wrote. "Party affiliation has no bearing insofar as mutual respect and support was concerned."

"In many ways," Catherine concluded, "working in the Senate is like living in a small town. There are no secrets. And while you might prefer the company of one over another, you'll tolerate no 'outsider's' criticism of any family member."

I feel that the Senate family extends beyond the 34 seats on this floor. It applies to the doormen, the Secretary and staff at the dais, the enrolling staff, the research and appropriations teams, our office personnel and the countless others throughout this magnificent building who professionally and tirelessly perform their jobs day in and day out. We have good and honorable people working for us. We have a good and honorable family.

As Senators, we owe these people our deepest thanks.

We all recognize the importance family plays in our daily lives. I'm from a big family. In fact, my family is so big I have a brother who's also named Bill. But that's another story entirely.

My family -- and the support and experiences they've shared with me -- has helped me in more ways than I could ever express. My family taught me to cooperate, to respect others, to share, to forgive and to love. My Dad has been, and will always be, my greatest hero.

And no matter how accomplished or successful we might become, our family will always be our foundation and our single greatest source of support and protection.

A few years ago, the Senator from Bates had put an incredible amount of work and effort into a key measure he sponsored. It was a bill he wanted to pass very badly. In the final days of the session, members of the House marched on the Senate and demanded he release the bill so that they could act on it.

But the Senator from Bates had given his word that he would kill the bill if certain provisions were added. These provisions had, in fact, been added.

I remember that day very clearly. You could hear a pin drop as the Senator from Bates spoke.

He shared with us on this floor how he had struggled with this dilemma. And how, in making a final decision, he had sought the advice and counsel of his father.

Like his father -- and his father before him -- the Senator from Bates proved that he is an honorable and courageous man. The Senator from Bates kept his word. He was true to himself, he was true to this chamber, and he was true to the wisdom and counsel of his family.

There is a lesson for all of us in the example set that day: a reminder of the supreme importance of keeping our word and being true to our personal and professional relationships.

As members of this Senate family, we have inherited almost two centuries of tradition and experience that make this body especially effective in serving the citizens of this great State.

None of us here invented these traditions. They are the work of no single lawmaker, but of the Senate family as a whole as it has evolved over time.

These traditions -- this Senate protocol -- exist for one primary reason: to provide the best possible government for the citizens of the great State of Missouri.

I will be the first Senator -- and the first president pro tem -- to leave office as a result of constitutional term limits. I am the first president pro tem who knows his opening address to a new general assembly will also be his final address to a new general assembly. I bet you're all glad to hear that.

In a very short period of time, not one Senator sitting here today will be left in this chamber. The Senate will be forever denied the institutional memory of people like the Senator from the 14th, or the Senator from Laclede, or the Senator from Shannon. This will be a tremendous loss to Missouri.

We must have the courage and foresight to ensure that any change caused by term limits does not compromise the careful and deliberative way the Senate serves the citizens of Missouri.

We must never forget that what we do in this chamber affects our employers, the citizens of Missouri, in a very personal and intimate way.

We must make certain that duly elected legislators continue to control the peoples' branch of government and that no influence or power is shifted to the lobbyists and the entrenched bureaucracies.

We must be true to the spirit of our forefathers and strive to maintain and nourish the fundamental hallmarks of this great body -- tolerance of diverse view points, civility in all discourse, and full and open debate.

The actions we take as Senators in the 89th Missouri General Assembly will set important and lasting precedents. We must work together -- in the tradition of the Senate family -- to ensure the precedents we set for future generations are as sound and of the quality and character as the great traditions that have been passed down to us. This continuity will ultimately be our greatest legacy.

Now let's roll up our sleeves and get down to work.

Thanks again for this opportunity. My Father would be very proud. God bless all of you.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 3

WHEREAS, on November 8, 1994, the voters of Missouri adopted Section 3 of Article XIII, of the Constitution of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, Section 3, Article XIII, Missouri Constitution, provides that the compensation of state elected officials, the General Assembly and state judges is to be set by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation after public hearings and a review and study of the relationship of the compensation to the duties of the elected state officials, the members of the General Assembly and state judges; and

WHEREAS, Section 3, Article XIII, Missouri Constitution, provides that after the hearings, the Commission shall file its initial schedule of compensation with the Secretary of State and the Revisor of Statutes before December 1, 1996; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Missouri Senate of the Eighty-ninth General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby reject the 1996 Compensation Schedule (Appendix A) of the 1996 Report and Compensation Schedule of the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials, dated November 30, 1996.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 4

WHEREAS, the voters of Missouri approved a constitutional amendment in 1994 which created a commission charged with setting the amount of compensation paid to statewide elected officials, legislators and judges; and

WHEREAS, prior to the approval of this amendment, the General Assembly had the duty and responsibility of setting salaries; and

WHEREAS, the "Missouri Citizen's Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials" has recommended that salaries be increased for judges and legislators and that the per diem paid to legislators be increased; and

WHEREAS, the recommended increases range from 6% to 145%, at a time when the average annual inflation is only 3%; and

WHEREAS, the increase in legislative salaries will place Missouri legislators among the best paid legislators of the sixteen states with sessions of comparable length; and

WHEREAS, the salary increases afforded Missouri's judges are so generous that the judges of Missouri will be among the best paid judges in the country when this proposal becomes effective; and

WHEREAS, the changes recommended by the Missouri Citizen's Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials will take effect on July 1, 1997, unless disapproved by the General Assembly; and

WHEREAS, the General Assembly may disapprove of the recommendation in their entirety by a concurrent resolution approved by both the Senate and the House before February 1, 1997;

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 5

WHEREAS, telecommunications services and energy services are vital to the economic vitality and well-being of the state of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, there is a nationwide trend toward deregulation of telecommunications and energy services which will likely create competitive markets and make available new services and customer choices; and

WHEREAS, the state and political subdivisions have imposed taxes, fees and other assessments on various telecommunications and energy services, and such taxes vary widely based upon locality and, within a locality, such taxes may vary widely between increasingly related and competitive services, such as telephone and cable television; and

WHEREAS, ensuring adequate and affordable telecommunications and energy services will necessitate a fair and equitable structure of taxes across different telecommunications and energy services and across different regions of the state;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, that a joint legislative study committee of the General Assembly be created to be composed of five members of the Senate, to be appointed by the President Pro Tem of the Senate, and five members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, and that said committee be authorized to function during the interim between the first and second regular sessions of the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that said committee conduct an in depth study and make appropriate recommendations concerning financial, legal, social, technological and economic issues of telecommunications and energy services taxation and any other issues the committee deems relevant; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the committee prepare a report, together with its recommendations for any legislative action it deems necessary for submission to the General Assembly prior to the commencement of the Second Regular Session of the Eighty- Ninth General Assembly; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the committee may solicit any input and information necessary to fulfill its obligations from the Missouri Public Service Commission, the Department of Economic Development, the Office of Public Counsel, telecommunications and energy service providers and representatives of all telecommunications and energy customer groups; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Committee on Legislative Research, Senate Research and House Research shall provide such legal, research, clerical, technical and bill drafting services as the committee may require in the performance of its duties; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the actual and necessary expenses of the committee, its members and any staff personnel assigned to the committee incurred in attending meetings of the committee or any subcommittee thereof shall be paid from the Joint Contingent Fund.

Senator Goode offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 6

WHEREAS, the triumph of freedom and justice embodied in the Constitution of the United States of America give contemporary and future generations a structure for ordered liberty that has served this nation well;

WHEREAS, those historic decisions, augmented from time to time by Amendment, have given us a Constitution which permits each generation to overcome the great social disturbances of its time;

WHEREAS, protecting the rights of speech and assembly against overbearing government, the liberation of enslaved Americans; the right of women to vote, restraints on the power of concentrated wealth, the intelligent use of government to protect the economic interests of all and the use of national military power here and abroad have all been achieved through this Constitutional framework;

WHEREAS, the American people have well understood their Constitution and the values and powers it embodies;

WHEREAS, liberty, justice, and our physical and material security remain the goals of our generation and our hope for future generations;

WHEREAS, a Constitution which protects our personal security is the heart of the American system;

WHEREAS, our Constitution seeks to ensure that each person is free of the threat of attack, free of actions by others that diminish life, liberty, health, or property or that prevent the pursuit of happiness;

WHEREAS, the people of the nation are increasingly besieged by attacks on their personal security, their health and the health of their families, and their right to enjoy the air, water and natural resources of the nation;

WHEREAS, the continuing and growing threat to the public health and the natural resources of the nation is the challenge to our generation of the kind other generations have faced and overcome;

WHEREAS, we are the custodians of the health of our children and of future generations, whose ability to breathe clean air, drink healthful water, avoid poisons, and share in the spiritual regeneration that comes from wilderness and nature is in danger;

WHEREAS, we are obliged to protect each citizen from these threats as surely as were previous generations obliged to enhance freedom, justice and prosperity;

WHEREAS, a Constitutional remedy is necessary to accomplish this goal;

WHEREAS, the decision to seek a constitutional remedy is significant and necessary;

WHEREAS, the people have historically been reluctant to amend the Constitution except for the most compelling reasons;

WHEREAS, although this body shares that view, the commitment to the public health and environmental security of our citizens and of future generations is so important and so deeply a part of American tradition and values that it requires Constitutional status;

WHEREAS, we can no more rely on statutory protections for the environment and public health than the nation of one hundred and thirty years ago could rely on law alone for the liberation of enslaved Americans, nor could the nation of eighty years ago rely on law alone when it declared the right of women's suffrage to be a constitutional value;

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved by the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly of the State of Missouri that the Congress of the United States submit to the several states the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

The natural resources of the nation are the heritage of present and future generations. The right of each person to clean and healthful air and water, and to the protection of the other natural resources of the nations, shall not be infringed upon by any person.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the legislatures of each of the several states comprising the United States apply to the Congress requesting the enactment of the above amendment to the Constitution of the United States;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that properly inscribed copies of this resolution be sent by the Secretary of the Senate to the members of the Missouri delegation to the Congress of the United States; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Secretary of the Senate is directed to send properly inscribed copies of this resolution to the Secretary of State and the presiding officer of each house of the legislature of each of the other states in the United States, to the Clerk of the United States House of Representatives, and to the Secretary of the United States Senate.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 7

WHEREAS, the economic vitality and well-being of the state of Missouri depend on the availability of reliable, low-cost energy sources; and

WHEREAS, there is currently a nationwide trend toward competition in the production, distribution and sale of energy, including electricity and other energy sources, and this trend has both potential benefits and potential adverse effects on energy producers, distributors, retailers, customers and the citizens of this state; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri General Assembly believes that it is in the best interest of the citizens of this state to explore the effects of competition in the generation, distribution and sale of energy;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Senate of the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, that a joint legislative study committee of the General Assembly be created to be composed of five members of the Senate, to be appointed by the President Pro Tem of the Senate, and five members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, and that said committee be authorized to function during the interim between the first and second regular sessions of the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that said committee conduct an in depth study and make appropriate recommendations

concerning financial, legal, social, taxation, environmental, technological and economic issues of deregulation and increasing competition in energy production, distribution and sale including consideration of the effects on residential customers, small business customers, large business customers, utility shareholders and other stakeholders and any other issues the committee deems relevant; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the committee prepare a report, together with its recommendations for any legislative action it deems necessary for submission to the General Assembly prior to the commencement of the Second Regular Session of the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the committee may solicit any input and information necessary to fulfill its obligations from the Missouri Public Service Commission, the Division of Energy within the Department of Natural Resources, the Department of Economic Development, the Office of Public Counsel, energy utilities and representatives of all energy customer groups; and

WHEREAS, the increase in legislative salaries will place Missouri legislators among the best paid legislators of the sixteen states with sessions of comparable length; and

WHEREAS, the salary increases afforded Missouri's judges are so generous that the judges of Missouri will be among the best paid judges in the country when this proposal becomes effective; and

WHEREAS, the General Assembly may disapprove of the recommendations by a concurrent resolution approved by both the Senate and the House before February 1, 1997;

WHEREAS, the recommended increases of the Commission are exorbitant and unreasonable; and

WHEREAS, Missouri voters approved of handing over the duty of making salary recommendations to the Commission with the expectation that such recommendations would be fair and reasonable; and

Senators Kinder, Ehlmann, Yeckel, Sims, Graves and Childers offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 12

WHEREAS, the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has a responsibility under the federal Clean Air Act to review periodically the National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) for ozone and particulate matter (PM); and

WHEREAS, EPA is considering changes to both NAAQS, which includes tightening the ozone standard and adding a separate standard for particulate matter smaller than two and one-half microns in size (PM_{2.5}) in addition to the existing standard for particulate matter smaller than ten microns in size (PM₁₀); and

WHEREAS, states, through their citizens, legislative bodies and regulatory agencies, have worked hard to reduce air pollution and meet clean air requirements; and

WHEREAS, tightened standards could significantly expand the number of nonattainment areas for both standards and result in emissions controls in additional areas, thus imposing significant economic, administrative and regulatory burdens on more citizens, businesses and local governments; and

WHEREAS, there is very little monitoring data for PM_{2.5}; and

WHEREAS, current research indicates that there are many unanswered questions and uncertainties on the PM issue and the need for a more stringent standard, including: divergent opinions among scientists who have investigated this issue, lack of supporting toxicological data, lack of a plausible toxicological mechanism connecting PM_{2.5} to adverse health effects, lack of an established correlation between recorded levels and public health effects; and

WHEREAS, no clear scientific proof exists that tightening controls on PM2.5 or ozone would avoid alleged adverse health effects, while costs of implementing such a standard would assuredly be high;

WHEREAS, the Agency's action has been taken with virtually no evidence that the change in standards will result in significant health benefits and with no analysis of the enormous costs that will be charged to Missouri business and consumers and to those communities that must implement new complicated compliance programs;

WHEREAS, the Missouri Department of Natural Resources, in testimony before the EPA last fall, indicated that it was premature to tighten air standards severely without adequate health data on the need for such standards or sufficient information on the atmospheric transport of ozone and noted that the EPA has yet to even determine a "reference method" for collecting and reporting data on particulate matter;

WHEREAS, the EPA's own scientific adviser, the Clean Air Science Advisory Committee (CASAC) has recommended that the EPA proceed cautiously and improve the existing state of scientific knowledge before taking costly steps to further control ozone and fine particulate emissions;

WHEREAS, the Senate committee responsible for approving EPA's budget when it allocated $19 million to study particulate matter, noting that it is premature for the EPA to order such drastic changes in air regulations without conducting the necessary scientific review;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Senate of the Eighty-Ninth Missouri General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, advise and strongly urge EPA to retain the existing NAAQS for ozone; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the EPA is advised and strongly urged to reaffirm the existing PM10 standard and conduct the additional PM2.5 monitoring and scientific research needed to address the issue of causality and other important unanswered questions before a proposal for a new PM2.5 standard or a revised PM10 standard is made; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the EPA should abandon its current consideration of a PM2.5 standard until more information, including, sound science and cost- effectiveness data are available; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the EPA is urged to identify any unfunded mandates or other administrative and economic burdens for state or local governments or agencies that would derive from changes to the NAAQS for ozone or particulate matter; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Secretary of the Senate prepare and transmit properly inscribed copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, the Missouri Congressional delegation, the Administrator of the United State Environmental Protection Agency and the Director of the Missouri Department of Natural Resources.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 13

WHEREAS, the fair administration of Missouri's system of civil justice is a goal of both the Missouri General Assembly and the Missouri Supreme Court; and

WHEREAS, a judge of the Missouri Supreme Court told the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, which quoted him in a published report, that monetary awards granted by juries in civil cases in the city of St. Louis are ten times higher than judgments rendered in virtually any other jurisdiction out of 114 counties in the entire state; and

WHEREAS, defendants in lawsuits are completely defenseless in this situation, finding themselves at the mercy of plaintiffs' lawyers owing to Supreme Court Rule 51.03, which permits routine changes of venue in civil cases in counties having population of 75,000 or less; and

WHEREAS, this deplorable situation has produced a national scandal in which plaintiffs' lawyers file hundreds, even thousands, of cases in the city of St. Louis from approximately 300 miles away, even cases arising out of incidents occurring entirely in other states and having literally nothing to do with the state of Missouri, in which the parties, witnesses and attorneys are all from other states; and

WHEREAS, this scandal has brought ridicule, scorn and harm to the reputation of the city of St. Louis, the state of Missouri and to our system of dispensing civil justice; and

WHEREAS, more plaintiffs from Little Rock, Arkansas, are in St. Louis courts than St. Louis residents, according to a St. Louis attorney quoted in a news article published in the Columbia Tribune; and

WHEREAS, the filing of such cases has overloaded the courts of the state of Missouri, especially the courts of the city of St. Louis, to the extent that Missouri taxpayers are being burdened unnecessarily and state resources are being squandered on cases arising in other states and having literally nothing whatsoever to do with the state of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, other judges from distant parts of outstate Missouri are being transferred into the city of St. Louis, at great expense, to handle the expanding caseload there, needlessly disrupting and overburdening the entire system of civil justice in the state of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, this deplorable and indefensible situation amounts to nothing less than a denial to civil defendants of the "equal justice under law" that is claimed by the American judicial system as its highest ideal and noblest aspiration; and

WHEREAS, a simple rule change can be effected by a majority vote of the Supreme Court of Missouri, to wit, in the aforementioned Supreme Court Rule 51.03, by annulling or amending it so that defendants to lawsuits in counties with a population of 75,000 or fewer have the same protections that defendants in other counties currently enjoy pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 51.04; and

WHEREAS, a host of independent newspapers representing a wide range of philosophical orientations, from liberal to moderate to conservative and everything in between, have urged in editorials that Missouri government redress this serious imbalance in the delivery of civil justice in our state; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Supreme Court has stated that it is within the authority of the Missouri General Assembly to change the venue statutes and to provide guidance on how Supreme Court rules relating to venue should be structured;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Missouri Senate of the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby urges the members of the Supreme Court to redress the imbalance in Missouri's system of civil justice by voting to annul or amend Rule 51.03 so that Rule 51.04 will govern all requests for change of venue.

WHEREAS, Mr. Dinger won election to the Missouri House of Representatives from the 128th District in 1964 and served in that legislative body for a total of eight years, during which he earned the faith, confidence, and trust of the people who elected him to represent the 20th District in the Missouri Senate in 1974; and

Governor Mel Carnahan

Jefferson City, Missouri

January 13, 1997

Two rural school teachers made a lasting impression on me. They were my parents--one a school superintendent; the other an English teacher. Both had a way of going far beyond what was expected of them.

When they saw youngsters coming to school hungry, they knew that little learning would take place. So they started a hot lunch program. They hauled surplus flour and butter from the railway depot to school in their pickup truck so bread could be made for the students.

Because my father knew that education was more than reading and writing, he formed a band, and became its leader. He also felt that learning teamwork was important, so he organized a basketball team. Of course, the school couldn't afford a coach, so he took on the extra duty himself.

And because there were some students who lived out beyond the bus routes and couldn't get to school, my mother and father took those students into our own home to stay during the school year.

I've thought of my parents often during the past four years as I have served in the office of Governor--the place where I now have the chance to affect the education of Missouri's children.

I evoke their memory today because who we are, and what we value most comes from the past. Even as we stand here today, we are encircled by the symbols of Missouri's heritage--the capitol...church...courts...and citizens of our state. I am also mindful that we are gathered in a capital city named for one of the great founders of democracy, Thomas Jefferson. We are here today because he--at the turn of a new century--dreamed of a nation that would one day stretch from shore to shore.

Today we approach our new century.

A lot has changed--not just from Jefferson's time, but even from the days of my parents when it was a huge undertaking to travel ten miles from home. Today we ride over highways undreamed of back then. One such highway is already transforming our lives--the information super highway. Last month we heard about a new computer that performs a trillion calculations a second; it handles in fifteen seconds what would take someone with a calculator 250,000 years to accomplish.

We prepare to explore a new era--an era in which learning to operate a computer will be as crucial as it was for our parents' and grandparents' generation to operate a car.

These generations of Missourians met their challenges and left us a worthy example--they helped America fight and win cruel wars, came home and built the strongest economy the state has ever seen, and sent a message of freedom heard around the world.

We must not mock their vision with lesser dreams.

Enriched by their values, inspired by their achievement, we are intent on giving our children the tools and opportunities needed for global living.

In keeping with that commitment, I will--as my first official act of this new term meet with some students of the high school graduating class of the year 2000.

To those students and others like them, I pledge not merely to celebrate what we have accomplished, but to dedicate myself to those whose accomplishments are yet to come.

Such work does not begin today; we have made progress since I stood here four years ago.

Missouri's economy is strong, with more than 300,000 new jobs.

We are reforming Missouri's schools, cutting the crime rate, and moving people from welfare rolls to payrolls.

When disaster struck, in the form of the worst floods the state had seen in hundreds of years, Missourians moved quickly to help their neighbors. We created relocation plans for the future that have already saved millions of tax dollars and much disruption of lives.

I say all this not just because of the statistics--for there are limits to what numbers can tell us about the daily lives of people.

I speak of our progress because I have seen it first hand.

I've seen it in Rogersville, where I went to one of our A+ Schools and spoke with high school seniors who would have been dropouts, and now are being trained for real jobs.

I've seen it in Nevada, where folks are converting an abandoned building into a telecommunity center. Soon they will be able to use video conferencing and other high tech resources--usually available only in big cities--to compete for new businesses and jobs.

I've seen it at William Woods University, where a woman who had been on welfare recently came up to me. She was in the FUTURES program--Missouri's superb initiative designed to train able-bodied welfare recipients and get them back on their feet again. This young woman was graduating from college and beginning her new life as a teacher. She pointed to her own two children, two and four years old, and said--"The FUTURES Program not only made a difference for me, it's making a difference for them."

Yes, we are preparing our people and our state for the 21st century. But much is left to be done.

The achievements of a generation, like any journey, are made up of small individual steps.

The most important of these steps will be made hand-in-hand with our children, whose care and future we value more than our own well-being.

It has been said that: "A child is a person who is going to carry on what you have started. He is going to sit where you are sitting and when you are gone, attend to those things which you think are important. He will assume control of your cities, states and nations. The fate of humanity is in his hands. Teach him well."

Abraham Lincoln put it this way in one of his earliest of public statements: "I view education as the most important subject which we as a people can be engaged in."

I think this is what Governor Lon Stevens had in mind at his inaugural exactly a hundred years ago. As he stood on this hilltop, looking into a new century, he reminded Missourians that when it came to our public schools, "nothing should be more carefully guarded or more vigorously promoted."

What was true in 1897 is equally true in 1997.

Let there be no doubt--this administration will vigorously promote education, not just with words, but through plans and hard work that translate into achievement.

To those who know that the skills for the jobs of the 21st Century cannot always be acquired by the 12th grade, we pledge an all-out effort to make grades 13 and 14 as available as a high school diploma is today.

To those who know that without computer training you cannot find opportunity in the workplace of the century ahead, we pledge this--a state in which every school is linked to the information highway, and equipped with the computers to provide hands-on training for every student.

Let it be our goal to make every Missouri youngster computer literate by age twelve.

To those determined that Missouri's colleges and universities maintain their excellent reputation, let me say this--we too, share that resolve. There should be no company locating in another state because workers with the skills needed by new businesses were unavailable within our borders.

Reaching new levels of excellence will not be easy for any of us. The difficulty of educating a child is apparent to anyone who has sat with a son or daughter over algebra homework, or tried to persuade them to turn off Nintendo 64 to read a book.

Education doesn't just happen in the classroom. It happens in the home. It occurs when schools are safe. It comes when students are healthy and well-nourished.

And so, we further pledge that we will create the surroundings in which education can flourish, where schools are free of guns, gangs and drugs, and where learning is enhanced by good health and nutrition.

And because we know that learning begins long before school ever starts, we are expanding our nationally recognized Parents as Teachers initiative and support for early childhood education. We must make Missouri a state in which every child goes to school healthy, immunized and ready to learn.

A while back, as I toured a school with the local superintendent, he explained his approach to education. "We want to leave no child behind," he told me as he proudly pointed out the extra effort his community was putting forth to keep children in school and excited by learning.

His is a fitting goal for all of us. We must improve learning in all our schools, from Hayti to Hannibal; Eminence to Independence; St. Joseph to St. Louis.

Economically and socially, we cannot afford a Missouri of educational haves and have-nots.

We must leave no child behind. If we are to embrace the future, we must first embrace the child.

This cannot be the mission of government alone. Nor can it be accomplished only with dollars and hardware.

So, I urge new partnerships to begin between government and business and communities that will forge new endeavors. Surely, the education of our children is too important to remain the province of one party or one administration. We seek, we need the abilities and insights of all. Only then can we thrive as a people.

We in this age of technology know that the finest computers will help us realize our aims only if those using them are instilled with the values and vision on which our state and nation have been built.

This is truly our greatest challenge as we are summoned by a new century. One that calls for bold plans and courageous deeds.

May we not approach this new era with faltering steps or flinching spirit.

Rather, let us go forth hand in hand, like partners in a great adventure. Girded in faith, made strong by hope, firm in the knowledge that He who directs the course of the universe as well as the flight of the sparrow, will guide us in a sure and certain path.

And generations from now, when the balloons and bunting are gone, and when our speeches are shelved in the archives, those who are children now will remember our deeds. May they look back and say, we preserved the future for them.

Let them say, too, that Missouri, once the gateway to the frontier, opened a gateway to the future. And in that new era, may we be guided not only by innovation and enterprise, but by virtues as timeless as those taught by those two Ozarks school teachers who shaped my life more than half a century ago.

Harris-Stowe State College Concert Chorale sang the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

The Benediction was pronounced by Pastor Sammie E. Jones, Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church, St. Louis, Missouri.

The audience remained standing, and Governor Carnahan was escorted from the platform by the Legislative Inaugural Committee.

President Pro Tem of the Senate, Senator William P. McKenna, adjourned the Joint Session of the 89th General Assembly. Immediately thereafter the University of Missouri-Columbia Symphonic Band, directed by L. Kevin Kastens performed.

On motion of President Pro Tem McKenna, the Joint Assembly dissolved.

The Senators returned to the Chamber and the Senate was called to order by Senator Howard.

RESOLUTIONS

Senators Schneider and Scott offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Rules, Joint Rules and Resolutions:

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 19

WHEREAS, the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials was established pursuant to Section 3 of Article XIII of the Missouri Constitution, adopted at the 1994 general election; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of the Commission is "to ensure that the power to control the rate of compensation of elected officials of this state is retained and exercised by the tax paying citizens of this state" rather than by the General Assembly; and

WHEREAS, in order to fulfill this purpose, the Constitution provides that no affected public official shall receive compensation for the performance of their duties, including salaries, mileage allowances or per diem expense allowances, other than in the amount established for each office by the Commission, and that until July 1, 1997, the compensation of such affected public officials shall be that in effect on the effective date of the amendment to the Constitution denominated as Article XIII, Section 3; and

WHEREAS, the Commission consists of twenty-two Missouri citizens: twelve appointed by the Governor, nine selected at random by the Secretary of State and one appointed by the Supreme Court, and includes representatives of large and small business, health care, agriculture, organized labor, personnel management, senior citizens, and its members reside in all geographic areas of the state; and

WHEREAS, the Commission is charged by the Constitution to "review and study the relationship of compensation to the duties of "public officials subject to this section of the Constitution, and to carry out this duty, the Commission conducted eleven public meetings at six different locations throughout the state; and

WHEREAS, testimony before the Commission was offered by numerous businesspersons, college presidents, lawyers and members of the public, in addition to the public officials affected by any changes in compensation proposed by the Commission; and

WHEREAS, technical assistance was provided to the Commission by a firm with substantial experience in other states evaluating the duties of public servants and recommending appropriate compensation for such persons; and

WHEREAS, the Commission filed its report and schedule of compensation with the Secretary of State and the Revisor of Statutes prior to December 1, 1996; and

WHEREAS, Section 3 of Article XIII provides that the schedule shall become effective on July 1, 1997, unless disapproved by concurrent resolution adopted by the General Assembly prior to February 1, 1997; and

WHEREAS, Section 3 of Article XIII provides that the General Assembly retains its historic authority to fund or not fund any portion of the schedule of compensation since each recommendation within the schedule is "subject to appropriations" by the General Assembly; and

WHEREAS, it is the sense of the Missouri Senate that some of the recommendations within the schedule should not be fully implemented at this time and should be deferred and that the General Assembly should fund portions of the recommendations providing increases in salaries during the first regular session of this General Assembly and additional portions during the second regular session, and that the General Assembly should recommend to the Ninetieth General Assembly that the remainder of the recommendations be funded during its first and second regular sessions; and

WHEREAS, the recommendations of the Commission are designed so as not to discourage interested citizens from filing for public office by reason of the financial sacrifice such service might demand of persons who otherwise would be interested; and

WHEREAS, it is a matter of public record that interest in public office in Missouri is such that many incumbent officeholders seeking reelection often do so without opposition and many elections for state offices go uncontested; and

WHEREAS, although Missouri law supports the concept of a part-time legislature which meets approximately five months per year, legislators are frequently called upon to serve on interim committees exploring areas to be addressed in future legislative sessions and are also expected to be available to address constituent needs and problems regarding state government in their home districts; and

WHEREAS, current policies of the federal government have resulted in many governmental functions formerly exercised by the national government being transferred to state governments, including environmental regulation, public assistance, public health care, low income housing programs and special education programs, which have resulted in the need for well-informed legislators who must devote an increasing amount of time resolving problems now confronting state government; and

WHEREAS, the Senate, through its Senate Rules, has substantially reduced the ability of lobbyists to entertain senators or to provide financial benefits of any kind and that additional measures are now under consideration to further reduce the inappropriate use of financial resources by registered lobbyists; and

WHEREAS, the Commission recommended that members of the General Assembly receive approximately an 18.9 percent increase in compensation for fiscal year 1998, and a 7.7 percent increase in compensation for fiscal year 1999, which when compounded represents approximately an increase of 28 percent in salary from fiscal year 1997 to fiscal year 1999, and which represents an increase in total compensation of less than one hundred dollars per week for fiscal year 1998 and approximately forty eight dollars for fiscal year 1999;

WHEREAS, the plain language of Section 3 of Article XIII suggests that if the General Assembly adopts a concurrent resolution prior to February 1, 1997, disapproving the initial schedule of compensation filed by the Commission, any compensation payable for the offices under the jurisdiction of the Commission will be eliminated since the Constitution states that the only salary payable is "in the amount established for each office by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials"; and

WHEREAS, it is in the best interests of the state to avoid ambiguity and potential litigation in association with interpretation of the provisions of Section 3 of Article XIII of the Constitution;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by a majority of the elected members of the Senate of the First Regular Session of the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly with respect to the portion of the report and schedule of compensation filed by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials relating to the salaries of members of the General Assembly, as follows:

1. That the increases for members of the General Assembly be implemented at a rate of twenty five percent per year over a four year period further adjusted by cost of living increases in the manner provided by Section 105.005, RSMo, so that the base salary of members of the General Assembly would be increased by the amount of Seven Percent per year for each of fiscal years 1998, 1999, 2000 and 2001;
2. That the Senate is hereby committed to appropriate an amount not to exceed that necessary for salaries of members of the General Assembly consistent with this resolution;
3. The Secretary of the Senate is instructed to inform the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Governor and the Secretary of State of the adoption of this resolution by delivering a properly certified copy of this resolution to such persons upon adoption of this resolution.

Senators Schneider and Scott offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Rules, Joint Rules and Resolutions:

the Missouri Constitution, adopted at the 1994 general election; and

WHEREAS, the per diem reimbursement for actual and necessary expenses incurred during meetings of the Missouri Judicial Conference, which requires mandatory attendance by Missouri judges, has been historically the same amount as that provided for members of the General Assembly; and the sense of the Senate is that this correlation remain as currently provided; and

WHEREAS, the chief justice of the Supreme Court has traditionally received a differential in salary in the amount of Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars per year, in compensation for additional administrative duties associated with such position; and

WHEREAS, the plain language of Section 3 of Article XIII suggests that if the General Assembly adopts a concurrent resolution prior to February 1, 1997, disapproving the initial schedule of compensation filed by the Commission, any compensation payable for the offices under the jurisdiction of the Commission will be eliminated since the Constitution states that the only salary payable is "in the amount established for each office by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials"; and

WHEREAS, it is in the best interests of the state to avoid ambiguity and potential litigation in association with interpretation of the provisions of Section 3 of Article XIII of the Constitution;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by a majority of the elected members of the Senate of the First Regular Session of the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly with respect to the portion of the report and schedule of compensation filed by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials relating to salaries of state court judges other than municipal court judges, as follows:

1. That the increases for judges of the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals and circuit courts be implemented at a rate of twenty five percent per year over a four year period further adjusted by cost of living increases in the manner provided by Section 476.405, RSMo, so that such annual increases in the base salary prior to such cost of living increases would be as follows: For judges of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals, 3.4 percent per year for each of fiscal years 1998, 1999, 2000 and 2001; for judges of the circuit courts, 3.7 percent for each of fiscal years 1998, 1999, 2000 and 2001;

2. That increases in salary for judges of the associate circuit divisions of the circuit court be implemented at the rate of twenty-five percent for fiscal year 1998 only so that such annual increases in the base salary prior to such cost of living increases would be 5.7 percent for fiscal year 1998; and that further consideration of the unfunded portion of the commission's recommendations for salaries of associate circuit judges be deferred until the second regular session of the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly, after the General Assembly has considered the issue of whether or not the Constitution should be amended to eliminate the requirement that an associate circuit judge be required in every county and after the General Assembly has considered the issue of deployment of judicial resources and legislation needed to ensure efficient use of associate circuit judges on a statewide basis;
3. That the amount of per diem reimbursement for expenses incurred during meetings of the Missouri Judicial Conference be calculated in the same manner as the amount of per diem is calculated for legislators;
4. That the chief justice of the Supreme Court shall continue to receive the additional Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars currently provided by law to such position;
5. That the Senate is hereby committed to appropriate an amount not to exceed that necessary for salaries of members of the General Assembly consistent with this resolution;
6. The Secretary of the Senate is instructed to inform the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Governor and the Secretary of State of the adoption of this resolution by delivering a properly certified copy of this resolution to such persons upon adoption of this resolution.

Senators Schneider and Scott offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Rules, Joint Rules and Resolutions:

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 21

WHEREAS, the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials was established pursuant to Section 3 of Article XIII of the Missouri Constitution, adopted at the 1994 general election; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of the Commission is "to ensure that the power to control the rate of compensation of elected officials of this state is retained and exercised by the tax paying citizens of this state" rather than by the General Assembly; and

WHEREAS, in order to fulfill this purpose, the Constitution provides that no affected public official shall receive compensation for the performance of their duties, including salaries, mileage allowances or per diem expense allowances, other than in the amount established for each office by the Commission, and that until July 1, 1997, the compensation of such affected public officials shall be that in effect on the effective date of the amendment to the Constitution denominated as Article XIII, Section 3; and

WHEREAS, the Commission consists of twenty-two Missouri citizens: twelve appointed by the Governor, nine selected at random by the Secretary of State and one appointed by the Supreme Court, and includes representatives of large and small business, health care, agriculture, organized labor, personnel management, senior citizens, and its members reside in all geographic areas of the state; and

WHEREAS, the Commission is charged by the Constitution to "review and study the relationship of compensation to the duties of "public officials subject to this section of the Constitution, and to carry out this duty, the Commission conducted eleven public meetings at six different locations throughout the state; and

WHEREAS, testimony before the Commission was offered by numerous businesspersons, college presidents, lawyers and members of the public, in addition to the public officials affected by any changes in compensation proposed by the Commission; and

WHEREAS, technical assistance was provided to the Commission by a firm with substantial experience in other states evaluating the duties of public servants and recommending appropriate compensation for such persons; and

WHEREAS, the Commission filed its report and schedule of compensation with the Secretary of State and the Revisor of Statutes prior to December 1, 1996; and

WHEREAS, Section 3 of Article XIII provides that the schedule shall become effective on July 1, 1997, unless disapproved by concurrent resolution adopted by the General Assembly prior to February 1, 1997; and

WHEREAS, Section 3 of Article XIII provides that the General Assembly retains its historic authority to fund or not fund any portion of the schedule of compensation since each recommendation within the schedule is "subject to appropriations" by the General Assembly; and

WHEREAS, the Lieutenant Governor was afforded a substantial increase in responsibility as a result of legislation enacted by the General Assembly in 1993 which provided extra duties to the Lieutenant Governor; and

WHEREAS, although at one time the position of Lieutenant Governor was considered a part-time position and the holder of such office had the option of holding outside employment, the extra duties placed in this office now mandate that the holder of this office exercise his or her duties on a full-time basis; and

WHEREAS, the plain language of Section 3 of Article XIII suggests that if the General Assembly adopts a concurrent resolution prior to February 1, 1997, disapproving the initial schedule of compensation filed by the Commission, any compensation payable for the offices under the jurisdiction of the Commission will be eliminated since the Constitution states that the only salary payable is "in the amount established for each office by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials"; and

WHEREAS, it is in the best interests of the state to avoid ambiguity and potential litigation in association with interpretation of the provisions of Section 3 of Article XIII of the Constitution;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by a majority of the elected members of the Senate of the First Regular Session of the Eighty-Ninth General Assembly with respect to the portion of the report and schedule of compensation filed by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials relating the salaries of statewide elected officials, as follows:

(c) The amount of per diem reimbursement for expenses incurred during meetings of the Missouri judicial conference be calculated in the same manner as the amount of per diem is calculated for legislators subject to appropriation;

(d) The chief justice of the supreme court shall continue to receive the additional two thousand five hundred dollars currently provided by law to such position;

5. That the increases for members of the general assembly be implemented at a rate of twenty-five percent per year over a four-year period further adjusted by cost of living increases in the manner provided by section 105.005, RSMo, so that the base salary of members of the general assembly would be increased by the amount of seven percent per year for each of fiscal years 1998, 1999, 2000 and 2001 subject to appropriation;

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senator Bentley offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 16

WHEREAS, In November, 1994, Missouri voters approved section 3 of Article XIII of the Missouri Constitution as a constitutional amendment; and

WHEREAS, Article XIII, Section 3 of the Missouri Constitution established the Missouri Citizen's Commission on Compensation for Elected

Officials, charged with setting the amount of compensation paid to statewide elected officials, members of the General Assembly and judges. The Commission is ordered to file its recommendations for salaries for these public officials with the Secretary of State and the Revisor of Statutes by December 1, 1996, and every two years thereafter; and

WHEREAS, on November 30, 1996, the Commission issued its 1996 Report and Compensation Schedule, which contains its salary recommendations; and

WHEREAS, the Commission's recommendations range from 6% to 145%, even though the average annual inflation has been near three percent for several years; and

WHEREAS, the Commission's recommendations increasing legislative salaries will result in more than a 30% increase in two years, placing Missouri legislators among the highest paid legislators of the sixteen states with sessions of comparable length; and

WHEREAS, the salary increases allocated to Missouri's judges are so generous that Missouri judges will be among the highest paid judges in the nation under the Commission's recommendations; and

WHEREAS, prior to the voters' approval of this amendment, it was the General Assembly's duty to set salaries; and

WHEREAS, the General Assembly had exercised its duties of setting salaries reasonably and responsibly; and

WHEREAS, Missouri voters approved of the creation of a Commission to make salary recommendations with the expectation that such recommendations would be equitable and reasonable; and

WHEREAS, in an era of cutting excess government spending, the Commission's recommendations are excessively high and unreasonable; and

WHEREAS, subsection 8 of section 3 of Article XIII of the Missouri Constitution grants power to the General Assembly to disapprove the salary recommendations of the Commission by concurrent resolution; provided however, that if no action is taken by February 1, 1997, the salary recommendations shall take effect; and

WHEREAS, the General Assembly has the duty to reject such an unreasonable proposal. Failure of the General Assembly to disapprove the salary recommendations would be unethical;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the members of the Missouri Senate of the First Regular Session of the Eighty-ninth General Assembly, the House concurring therein, that the recommendations of the Missouri Citizen's Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials be disapproved, pursuant to subsection 8 of section 3 of Article XIII of the Missouri Constitution; and

The Joint Committee appointed to wait upon the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, John C. Holstein, escorted the Chief Justice to the dais where he delivered the State of the Judiciary Address to the Joint Assembly:

State of the Judiciary Address to a Joint Session of the Missouri General Assembly

Hon. John C. Holstein, Chief Justice

Supreme Court of Missouri

January 16, 1997

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The millennium is upon us. The last time we entered a new millennium, there were ominous predictions of wars of Armageddon, pestilence, and death. And with good reason. If you were to look at the world a thousand years ago, it was not a very happy place to live. Most children didn't live to reach school age. And, of course, there were no schools as we know them. Such reading and writing as existed was done in monasteries in a language that was used by no one in daily conversation. Such laws as existed were written in Latin and were edicts of a king rather than the deliberate acts of a popularly elected legislative body. One significant difference between the law then and the law now is the ability to communicate the law to every citizen. No one could have predicted in the year 997 the means of communication that would be invented. It began with the printing press and extended through the microchip. But all this information is here, and we in government must learn to harness it and use it.

A thousand years ago, the people believed that trial by fire or trial by water were valid methods of determining the truth. It would be a couple of centuries before the guarantee of a right to a jury trial would find its way into our common law system. It would not be until this country was founded that the right to a jury trial would be permanently placed in state and federal constitutions. The jury trial has served us well. It is a marriage of the best of our legal system and of democracy. It was born in England, but it grew to maturity here. Modern constitutions have given the promise of other rights that we all hold dear when we find ourselves in court; the right to counsel, a fair and speedy hearing before an impartial judge, and equality for every citizen in the courts. While our court system is populated by humans and is capable of making mistakes, it also has the wonderful ability to correct mistakes. I hope the members of this body would approach any change in our state court system with a healthy degree of skepticism. But there are areas of our law where change is essential.

As I noted last year, for more than twenty years, the chief justice of the Missouri Supreme Court has been invited to speak to the General Assembly. We are grateful for that opportunity. One of my predecessors, when he was chief justice, Robert Donnelly, spent most of his time speaking of the tension that had developed between the state and federal courts regarding federal intervention in state cases. He pointed out that individual federal trial judges were, in effect, overruling decisions of the Missouri Supreme Court, particularly in criminal cases. He suggested that there may be little reason for state courts to review post-conviction claims in capital cases. Chief Justice Donnelly's frustration was not ignored. But it took more than 15 years for his message to sink in.

In recent habeas corpus reform by Congress, strict limitations were placed on the power of federal courts to review state convictions. However, to obtain the benefit of those limitations on federal habeas corpus review, the state had to reaffirm its obligation to ensure adequate representation of defendants in capital cases.

The Missouri Supreme Court, in an effort to ensure that such federal review and its accompanying delay is minimized, adopted a rule effective on July 1, 1997. It requires that public defenders designated to represent indigent defendants in post-conviction capital cases must meet minimum experience requirements. Unquestionably, there will be a cost associated with this. Some view this as a shifting of responsibility by the federal government to the states. The fact is, it is the state that makes the determination that it will seek the death penalty and, therefore, it is only appropriate that the state pay its costs. I see the federal habeas corpus reform not so much as Congress instructing the state on how defendants in capital cases should be represented but, rather, a recognition of the state's inherent responsibility to ensure adequate representation of every indigent defendant that is called to account in its courts. The public defender must have the resources to hire and retain experienced attorneys. These resources must include reasonable salaries, office facilities and support staff. I would urge both the Governor and you as you consider the budget request of the public defender commission to take into account its needs for adequate office space and staff salaries. These are essential to secure the promise that effective and experienced attorneys will be representing indigent defendants in criminal cases.

Last year, you will recall I told you that I had recently appointed a committee to study court security in Missouri. The committee, headed by Chief Judge Robert Ulrich of the Missouri Court of Appeals, Western District, reported back late this summer. One of the recommendations in the report was that the responsibility of the marshals for security of the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals buildings and judges should be spelled out in the statutes. We will be seeking legislation this year to make clear that the marshals and security officers have the necessary authority and the responsibility to provide such security. Other steps are being taken to heighten the awareness of local circuit courts, courthouses, and sheriffs regarding evolving security issues. We will be seeking authority to employ a court security specialist to provide advice and assistance to local circuit courts in these matters.

To ensure equal justice under law demands access by all, even the poor. In the past, it has been a combination of free work by lawyers plus federal funding and private contributions that have ensured that the poorest people in Missouri are able to access Missouri's courts.

Lawyers are doing their fair share. In fact, some are doing more than their fair share in representing the poor. In Missouri, there are 3,000 lawyers who regularly take cases without fee from six legal services offices located in the state. That accounts for more than 15% of the legal aid services cases in Missouri. In addition, there are thousands of attorneys who represent their clients for little or no fee, but receive no recognition for it in the statistics of the legal services agencies. I know of no profession that does more to help the poor than do these attorneys. The Missouri Bar Board of Governors is taking steps to encourage increased private contributions and lawyer participation in legal services. This is a story that the news media simply does not cover.

Even though lawyers are providing enormous amounts of money and energy to this cause, I challenged them to do more at the annual meeting of The Missouri Bar. I am today asking the state of Missouri to do more. Federal funds are drying up. But this is a state justice system, and the state has the responsibility to keep that system open to all who need access. As you did last year for the first time, I would ask that you continue to provide funding for legal services so that the poorest among us will have access to our system of justice. Indeed, unless the very poorest do have access to our court system, it is difficult to consider it fully a system of justice.

In most areas, the growth in case loads has been modest. But the caseloads continue to grow at an alarming rate in the area of family law. More than 14,000 more domestic relations cases were filed in 1996 than in 1992. Through transfer projects, we have been able to move judges to where the caseloads exist in order to maximize the number of cases that can be disposed of by our courts. In general, we either transfer judges or rely on senior judges to handle these growing caseloads. In particular, during FY96, 34 retired judges accepted assignment to serve as senior judges. Those judges provided the courts with 455 weeks of judicial service. Senior judges have proved most valuable where vacancies had occurred due to retirement or illness, or caseloads demanded attention. These judges have kept dockets current until a replacement was appointed or in order to keep the court current. In effect, our senior judges have provided us nearly 10 judges in the fiscal year 1995-96. I want to thank the General Assembly for fully funding the senior judge program, and I would ask you to continue to fully compensate these judges for their work. They are doing an outstanding job.

At the 1996 meeting of the Judicial Conference, it was recommended that our circuit court clerks all be appointed. First, let me say that in my personal contact with elected circuit clerks, most, if not all elected circuit clerks are doing an excellent job. However, the position is critical to the operation of the circuit courts. There is no reason that good circuit clerks should not have the same job security as is held by deputy circuit clerks. As all of you are keenly aware, it takes an inordinate amount of time, money and energy outside the courthouse to run for elective office. That is time taken away from managing the millions of dollars, the records, and hundreds of personnel who work for the courts. The number of cases, the amount of money and the complexity of our courts require the constant attention of those in a managerial position. By making the clerks responsible to the judges who, in turn, are responsible to the people for running the courts, we will assure a close working relationship and, I believe, a more efficient operation of the circuit courts. I commend the proposal of the Judicial Conference to you for your consideration.

Being a court clerk is no longer the uncomplicated job of keeping the files. Today clerks assist claimants in filling out small claims petitions, prepare adult abuse pleadings and give advice to potential litigants. They handle millions of dollars in child support collections. These are tasks that clerks ten years ago would not be asked to do. Clerks must know the fundamentals of using spreadsheets, databases and word processing in the new electronic world. These clerks are in need of training to keep up with the increasing sophistication that is occurring in the court operations. With computerization we must take steps to keep clerks in touch with the new technology now being placed in the courts across the state. We are asking the General Assembly to appropriate funds to provide training to the more than 1,800 clerical staff in the circuit courts. We need to establish a permanent inservice professional training program for clerks equivalent in amount and quality to that provided for other state employees.

The vision of the Missouri court automation project is service, justice and access. Last year, I mentioned the electronic library on compact disks made available to all judges. During the past year, we have adopted a computer network architecture plan which established standards for the wiring, software and hardware for the new automated system. Pilot courts are being assessed and brought into alignment with those equipment standards.

We now have a statewide electronic mail communication system. We are making better use of the internet. As I reported last year, cases of the Missouri Supreme Court are now in full text on the internet. Last month, the cases of the Missouri Court of Appeals, Eastern District, were placed on the internet. We anticipate that the other two districts of the court of appeals and several circuit courts will also have information available on line in the very near future.

As the circuit courts come onto the internet, they will be able to give detailed information not only to lawyers but to all citizens about dockets, where to file small claims or an adult abuse action, telephone numbers to call to obtain legal assistance, and even forms for simple claims that may be prosecuted without an attorney.

During this summer and fall, we have begun procurement of a case management system, a system that will apply to all divisions of all courts across the state. There are 27 pilot project sites, but there are two that will be the primary test sites, Montgomery County and Jackson County. It is our belief that if we can make the case management system work in both of those counties, it will work in every county of the state. The case management system is the critical centerpiece of court automation. With the case management system and the legislation you passed last year, we will be able to ensure accurate, uniform assessment and collection of costs. Internal and external electronic audits will be possible. Fast and accurate electronic transfer of funds from local courts to the agency entitled to those funds will become possible. The case management system extends to every aspect of every case, from civil to criminal, from juvenile to probate, from small claims to appeals. Once complete, it will give people outside the courts, including executive agencies, law enforcement, attorneys, news media and ordinary citizens access to information. It is an ambitious project. No state has successfully accomplished a statewide, all-encompassing case management system. Some have tried and failed. We've learned from those failures. We have moved cautiously. We've had a number of intermediate successes. All that is missing is the necessary funding to move forward into the last five years of the project.

As most of you are aware, the name of our court automation project was EC/2004, referring to the fact that we believed from the beginning that it was a ten-year project. However, the startup funding through court costs was only provided for five years.

The successes already mentioned have proven that we have developed an electronic court system that has the capacity to connect all courts in the state with each other and all lawyers with the courts. Indeed, all citizens of the state are now connected with the judicial branch of government through the internet and electronic mail. In order to complete the mission which the courts have been given, and for this valuable project to continue, it is now necessary that we extend the funding to the year 2004, as originally envisioned.

We are asking that the court costs of $7.00 per case be extended to the year 2004. In addition, we will be working to develop a long-term, stable method to ensure the revenue to maintain the system and ensure staff training for those who will be operating the system.

You have a working judiciary. I am very proud to be a part of it. The most obvious evidence of that work is in case disposition rates. Since adopting case disposition time standards in 1994, the time between filing and disposing of felony complaints has dropped 36%. For misdemeanor informations, the time for disposing of cases has dropped 45%. In the area of domestic relations, the time for disposing of cases, statewide, has dropped 32%. Again, I think our judges and the lawyers who try cases before them are to be complimented on the way they move cases. It has also required the efforts of every clerk in the state to maintain this kind of growth. Whatever may be happening in other states, I'm pleased to report to the legislature that in Missouri there are no case overloads in any circuit.

As some of you know, I have an office which stands opposite the capitol, in the red brick building. In a few weeks, I'll look across the lawn in front of the capitol and I'll see the tulips and daffodils begin to push up through the earth. The grass will again turn green. The trees will begin to bud. Dozens of yellow buses will begin to appear in the driveway in front of the capitol building. Out of those buses will come thousands of young people. Among them are tomorrow's voters, representatives, senators and chief justices. They're usually boisterous, and some of them are even unruly. At times they'll clog the hallways and make it difficult for us to move from one place to another here in the capitol building or over in the supreme court building.

Yet one of the great pleasures of my work has been to visit with some of these young people. I try to explain to them something about the building and give them a sense of Missouri history and a broad idea of what the courts do. Then I usually open it up for questions.

Last year, I was set back on my heels by a question of a fifth grader. He asked why these buildings are so fancy. I had to think a minute. Why do we have the ornate buildings, the high ceilings, the marble pillars and the words of great thinkers and spiritual leaders chiseled in the walls? Why do we have the inlaid wood and the beautiful works of art both in and outside the buildings? As I thought about that question, the answer came to me. The buildings remind those of us who work here that we're only here temporarily. The buildings and the values chiseled into the walls were put here years before we came, and will be here years after we re gone. We re merely the caretakers of a dream. Our purpose is to pass on the dream, established by others and inculcated in us, to another generation.

The words we use today are new: electronic courts, judicial resource allocation, case disposition standards. Next year, there will be a new chief justice with new ideas and renewed enthusiasm for the work. It s our form of term limits. But for our state courts, the dream remains constant: to provide a just and speedy disposition of every case on its merits and to make that system of justice accessible to all citizens of Missouri. We pledge to join hands with you to make this dream a reality.

Thank you again for allowing the chief justice to share these thoughts with you.

On motion of Senator Quick, the Joint Session was dissolved and the Senators returned to the Chamber where they were called to order by President Wilson.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS

By

Governor Mel Carnahan

January 22, 1997

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. President Pro Tem, distinguished state officials, members of the 89th General Assembly, and citizens of Missouri:

INTRODUCTION

While every public official in this chamber was preparing to come here this morning, over five million other Missourians were also starting their day.

Outside of Kansas City in the suburban community of Lee's Summit, Mary Capell has already done 45 minutes of aerobics, showered, dressed, fixed breakfast, and taken her child to daycare so she can open her office at Precision Cable. Mary is no longer on welfare because of our nationally recognized welfare-to-work efforts. She was hired by Precision Cable and has already received several raises and promotions. She is also attending classes at Longview Community College three nights a week to get her business administration degree.

On the other side of the state this morning, in the small southwest community of Crane, Katy Paschall is getting her sister up on their farm at 6 a.m., so they can both get to school in Hurley. Katy lives with her adopted family, Hurley teacher Tracy Flood and her husband Don. With their encouragement she has stayed in school, even though at one time in her life she was thinking about dropping out.

Katy's school in Hurley has gone in four years from being one of the poorest schools in the state to being on the cutting edge of technology because of the Outstanding Schools Act. Like the Hurley school, Katy has risen above adversity with the help of new technology. Three years ago the school had only six computers. Now, Katy has multi-media computers in all her classes and access to a computer lab.

Katy, a junior, has gone from being computer illiterate to one of the top Hurley students on keyboard and a straight-A student. In fact, she is currently designing a brochure for a residential care facility in Versailles as a part of her Technology Lab Class.

Mary and Katy are just two examples of Missourians you probably do not know. And probably will never meet. But it is my privilege to share their stories with you because you have touched their lives.

For the next four months until the final gavel, your lives will be consumed with a mountain of paper--bills, amendments, memos, and constituent letters. Your days will be filled with phone calls and meetings. Your mind will overflow with priorities and the demands of your job.

In the face of all that, please don't allow Mary Capell and Katy Paschall to be forgotten. Don't lose track of why we're here. It's not about paper, procedures, and process. Or politics...or even programs. It's about people--the people we serve. It's about providing them with new opportunities for a new century.

Several of those people whose lives you've already touched are with us today. One of them is the Vice President of Human Resources of MEMC Electronic Materials, Brad Eldredge. MEMC is a high tech company that produces silicon wafers used to manufacture integrated circuits and computer memory devices.

This prestigious Missouri company was selected by Industry Week as one of the Ten Best Plants in America and has won our Missouri Quality Award and the Governor's Pollution Prevention Award. So naturally, Brad is proud to be a part of such a great Missouri company that continues to grow.

Because we want to make Missouri an even better place to do business, we are working with outstanding companies such as Brad's to expand their operations in our state. And in our efforts to create new jobs, we have been working with Brad on training employees so he has the high-skilled work force he needs at his plant. This past year, the company made $175 million in capital investments at the St. Peters plant and created 200 new jobs.

MEMC is one of our many business partners in building a better Missouri through a stronger economy. And we're pleased to have Brad here as our guest today.

Brad, would you please stand up so everyone can let you know how much we appreciate having you here today and your company here in Missouri?

STRONG ECONOMY AND WISE FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

I am proud, too, that because of aggressive economic development and wise financial management, Missouri is known as a great place to do business. Our low debt and low taxes are highly attractive qualities to both new and expanding businesses.

Missouri is recognized as a state that takes a "results-oriented approach" with "conservative accounting" in operating a state budget. And we balance that budget every year--a feat the federal government has not been able to match. Missouri has a legislature and a government that take the financial responsibility very seriously, and I want to commend the members of this body, especially your budget chairs, Senator Lybyer and Rep. Lumpe, for year after year sending me a balanced budget and sending it to me on time.

I want to also assure Missouri citizens that our Council of Efficient Operations will continue to work with our departments to improve government's ability to deliver services in a cost-effective manner.

Our wise budget decisions, detailed strategic planning, and excellent financial management have earned Missouri a national ranking as the third best managed state in the nation from Financial World magazine. And the Missouri economic news continues to be great. Under my administration, we have created more than 300,000 new jobs.

The best news is that all of our indicators point to continued economic gains in 1997. But looking beyond 1997, I believe we can ensure our long range prosperity by investing in the new opportunities that I am proposing today for a new century.

SALES TAX CUT

Because of our strong state economy and tremendous economic growth, we can afford to give Missourians tax relief. Due to our outstanding economic growth, our state revenue for the budget year we just completed in June far exceeded our expectations, creating surplus revenues of almost $230 million. These are revenues which constitutionally cannot be spent. They must be returned to the taxpayers.

From this day forward, I want to see that money put back in the pockets of working families. The fastest and fairest way to accomplish that goal is to completely eliminate the three percent general state sales tax on food. Everyone must put food on the table.

This return of food dollars is equivalent to nearly two weeks of free groceries each year for every Missouri family. We must not allow another year to pass without providing this real savings to all Missourians.

I urge you to send this $230 million permanent tax cut to my desk.

We need to work together in a bipartisan way to give this tax relief to our citizens.

WELFARE REFORM

Three years ago, we made Missouri a model of welfare reform through dramatic and measurable change. A model that has been singled out for praise by President Clinton and many others. A model cited by national press stories in The New York Times, Washington Post, USA Today, and other notable sources.

Our reforms have been aggressive in helping people move off welfare and into jobs. One of our success stories is here with me today.

Her name is Michelle Gale, and she is from O'Fallon.

When Michelle found herself separated from her husband with no support, she became the sole provider for her three children. She went on public assistance and held down two jobs--as a babysitter and housecleaner. When those two jobs ended, she felt helpless and hopeless. That is until she saw one of our promotional fliers about new job training.

In the spring of 1994, she attended an orientation and career exploration session, took tests, and met with a counselor. Based on her good marks in math and English, she got a job referral and went to work in June of 1994.

She has recently re-married, is still working for the same company, and earns high praise from her supervisor. Michelle, all of us here are proud of what you have accomplished through your hard work, diligence, and enthusiasm.

Would you please stand so we can show you how much?

Thank you, Michelle.

Michelle is representative of thousands of similar successes throughout our state. Yes, transformed lives give evidence of our progress.

As a pioneer in welfare reform, Missouri is well ahead of the curve and well positioned to take on the requirements of the federal welfare act. Because we started the welfare reform process shortly after I became governor...well ahead of the federal government...we've already met many of the requirements of the new federal bill.

We have witnessed an astounding 24 straight months of welfare reductions. There are 48,000 fewer people on welfare today than when I took office. And we will continue to move able-bodied Missourians off welfare rolls and onto payrolls.

We must emphasize work; have reasonable time limits for assistance for able-bodied people; and make available the training, education, child care, and job placement services that people need to get and hold a job. And we will strengthen our child support enforcement efforts through new legal tools.

Authorities tell us that if all child support due were paid, our welfare rolls would drop by one-fourth almost overnight. Improved collections in interstate cases and revocation of professional licenses for failure to pay child support are strong tools. They will allow us to toughen our collection efforts and ensure that Missouri's children get the support they are due.

Parents owed child support should be able to count on receiving their checks. Allowing them to be shortchanged only shortchanges our future because they do not have the money to invest in a better life for themselves and their children.

So we will be assuring Missourians that we take the obligation of child support seriously by starting a license revocation program; using better paternity establishment procedures; establishing state and national data bases on new hires and wage withholdings; and giving authorities better information about whether those who owe child support are meeting their obligation to their children.

Yes, we are moving swiftly and prudently to develop a new approach in the way we move recipients from dependency to productivity. But even with these changes, government cannot achieve the levels of success we need to achieve without the support of business.

Our reforms call for bold partnerships with the private sector. What I didn't tell you about two of our special guests before that I want to share with you now is that Michelle Gale and Brad Eldredge know each other. Brad is in charge of hiring at the MEMC plant in St. Charles where Michelle works.

I commend MEMC for helping Missouri move people off welfare and into jobs. I hope that other Missouri businesses will follow the wonderful example of MEMC in putting welfare recipients to work. Public-private partnerships such as this one will be even more important as we replace a broken system and reframe the future into one that moves people into jobs. I urge our state business community to join us in this pursuit.

EDUCATION

Last week, in my inaugural address, I renewed my commitment to improving education in Missouri. When we speak of new opportunities for a new century, nothing can be more crucial than preparing our young people for the future. That is why I am pleased to announce that once again we will be fully funding our school foundation formula this year.

Over the past few years, I have visited schools all over our state. Because of these visits, I have had the opportunity to see what excellent preparation we are offering thanks to our reforms from the Outstanding Schools Act.

Reduced class sizes in lower grades, early childhood education for more children, better vocational education, and more computers in every school are making a difference.

One of the students I met whose life has been changed by our educational reforms is Trevor Mathenia from Springfield. Trevor was a student who made the decision to go to Central High School when he heard it would be joining our A-Plus program.

As you may know, the A-Plus program offers students a career-oriented curriculum as well as challenging academic courses that provide more opportunities for education and employment after graduation. A-Plus students must also meet certain standards of achievement, attendance, and citizenship.

Trevor is sold on the A-Plus program because he knows what a difference it has made in his life. Today, as a junior, he is one of two students who travels to junior high and middle schools in Springfield telling others about the advantages of our A-Plus program. He will be in the first class to graduate in Central's A-Plus program.

Trevor has also found what a difference our efforts have made at Central High School in other areas. For example, he tells us that when he started, Central had very few computers, and they were basically restricted to the office and the library. Now students have access to over 300 computers all over the school--many with Internet capabilities.

Trevor plans to take advantage of our A-Plus tuition scholarships. With it, he can study two years at a community college, before continuing at a four year institution to gain a degree in political science.

But to be eligible for the scholarship under A-Plus, Trevor must keep up a 2.5 grade average, maintain a 95 percent attendance record for three years, avoid drugs, and do 50 hours of unpaid tutoring or mentoring. He will be starting his tutoring of junior high and middle school students soon.

Please welcome one of the countless young people whose lives we have changed through our commitment to better education, Trevor Mathenia. Trevor, would you please stand?

HIGHER EDUCATION

Trevor certainly recognizes that people entering the workforce today need more than a high school diploma. At least 89 percent of all new jobs require some type of education beyond high school.

But cost is often a barrier to acquiring that education and training. I want to make two years of higher education more affordable and accessible for all Missourians. That is why I am proposing what I call Challenge Scholarships.

Under my proposal, we will phase in a tax credit of up to $1,500 a year to help pay tuition for every Missourian who wants two more years of education beyond high school. It is imperative that we make two years of education beyond high school commonplace. There is no better preparation we can make for our children's future.

So I ask you to help me make a 13th and 14th year of education a goal for all Missourians by approving my Challenge Scholarship program. This is just one more new opportunity we must take to build the high-skilled workforce of a new century.

LITERACY

One of the biggest impediments to achieving that goal is illiteracy. Reading unlocks so many doors. I cannot imagine anything more agonizing than living outside those doors--the wonders inside forever hidden from view.

Yet authorities tell us that one of the main reasons one million Missouri adults do not have a high school diploma is because they are functionally illiterate. Therefore, I am recommending we expand our efforts for adult literacy.

We will also be targeting the literacy of the next generation as well. Students who are poor readers in the early grades are much more likely to perform poorly in school and, eventually, drop out of school entirely. So I am recommending a greater effort to catch children at an early age who are at risk of reading failure.

We will train teachers from all across Missouri about intensive reading strategies. They can then return to their school districts to teach at-risk students and to train other teachers in the area.

As literacy efforts spread to all parts of our state, we can free Missourians who have been imprisoned by their inability to read--free them for better jobs and more opportunities.

Literacy brings access to knowledge that is essential in the electronic age. Students today can go anywhere and learn about anything with a few clicks of a computer mouse. So books are no longer the only key to success. It's the keyboard as well.

Our students must also be computer literate before they enter a world of work where windows and web sites are a way of life.

Since I first became governor, I have pushed to bring computers into all Missouri schools--kindergarten through college. I believe just as strongly about giving our students the advantage of the latest technology today as I did four years ago. That is why I am recommending that we nearly triple our on-going investment in computers for schools this year.

As I stated in my inaugural address, I would like to see us reach the goal of making every Missouri youngster computer literate by age 12. However, in doing that, we must make certain our students can have access to the Information Superhighway--that vast encyclopedia of knowledge.

The Information Superhighway is so popular today that many people can't even get on, let alone maneuver through all the traffic. My recommendations this year include widening the on-ramps and adding a new lane so Missouri students can get on the Information Superhighway and travel more rapidly to the places they need to go.

I believe bringing the world to our students electronically will prepare them to enter the real world as adults.

SCHOOL SAFETY

Making certain our students can travel on the Information Superhighway is not our only school transportation concern this session. We want to make certain our children are safely transported on school buses throughout Missouri.

Since last year, our Safe Schools Initiative has been working to make classrooms, hallways, and school yards safe. This legislative session, I want to take an additional step to safeguard the lives of children who ride school buses. In general, our school buses have an excellent record of safety. But even with safety mirrors, a bus with a high front grill creates a blind spot for the driver when small children pass directly in front of the vehicle.

I want to help reduce that danger by requiring that all conventional school buses be equipped with crossing control arms. These control arms are rods that stretch 10 feet from the front of the vehicle to keep students from crossing directly in front of the bus. At least 28 states have already approved the use of these devices. We will be offering one-time grants to school districts to help absorb the installation cost of the arms. Our timetable is to have all buses equipped in time for the start of school in the fall of 1998. I want to ensure that when Missouri schoolchildren are leaving a school bus, they are stepping into safety--not harm's way.

HEALTH

Protecting our children has always been a major priority of mine since I became governor. One area we have really concentrated on this past year is getting our youngest children immunized.

With your help, my plan to remove financial barriers to immunization, make it easier to receive them, and educate our citizens about the need for protection is working wonders.

Today we have with us one of our immunization success stories--LaTasha Winters of Kansas City and her 13-month-old twin daughters. I heard from LaTasha as a part of our immunization effort last year after Jean and I sent a congratulatory card to her on the birth of her twins.

These congratulatory cards, which we have been sending in partnership with Hallmark Cards, contain a detachable immunization record so parents can keep track of their children's immunizations. We have found them to be quite an effective tool in helping us raise parent awareness about the importance of immunizations.

LaTasha wrote to tell me what a good idea those cards were, and since then she has been keeping the twins current with all their immunizations. She is entered into a Kansas City-area computer listing so her health care provider can remind her when the twins need to be immunized.

She takes her children to a clinic affiliated with Children's Mercy Hospital, and her babies receive their immunizations free of charge. While she is here, we want to commend LaTasha on the steps she has been taking to make her own life better.

She has been studying to become a certified nursing assistant through Job Corps. While she's at school, her grandmother watches the twins.

And just yesterday, she took her high school equivalency test. Here is a woman that is completely devoted to protecting her children's health and continuing her own education so she can provide for those twins as they grow up. It is a pleasure for me to recognize LaTasha Winters and her twins.

LaTasha, would you please stand?

Thanks to stories such as the Winters twins, Missouri was able to reach its goal last September of having 75 percent of all Missouri two-year-olds immunized.

Another part of our responsibility as parents in keeping our children healthy is ensuring safe, quality daycare. This year we will be intensifying our efforts to provide quality inspections of daycare centers.

We will further increase our commitment to daycare by making certain this essential service is available for parents who need it. We will also be doing more to link daycare with educational opportunities.

With an approach called Educare, we are making day care a more meaningful educational experience for young children. By bringing home daycare providers and teachers together through Educare, children are receiving the early childhood skills they need to succeed in school when they get older.

We want all Missouri children to get a good start--in a secure home, free from harm, and in a healthy environment that encourages early childhood learning.

CRIME

However, without solid law enforcement in Missouri, all of these bright opportunities could be overshadowed by crime in our cities and neighborhoods.

Since I took office, Missouri has built a national reputation for fighting crime--longer sentences, tougher penalties for violent juveniles, and increased penalties for sexual predators. We have also given our law enforcement officers more tools and training so they can keep Missourians safe.

A shining example of this is Shelley Jones, a peace officer with the Columbia Police Department. Shelley was shot with a 12 gauge shotgun during the course of an arrest. Yet she not only survived, but was able to return fire and assist in the subsequent investigation leading to the arrest and conviction of the suspect.

She attributes her survival and her role in the ultimate arrest to the increased training she received, such as the training we approved for all police officers in 1993 and the continuing training requirements we put into law in 1994.

Let me introduce you to this courageous officer who put her life on the line--Officer Shelley Jones.

Shelley, would you please stand so we can acknowledge the great job you do for the people of Columbia?

We owe it to the men and women of law enforcement like Shelley to properly train and equip them. And thanks to our efforts, they are receiving that training and equipment. Tough new laws and better law enforcement are paying off for all of us.

However, if we are to make certain that dangerous and violent criminals are not released early...if these menaces to society are to be kept away from our children, off the streets, and far from our schools... we must have the prison space to house them.

It is necessary to build two more prisons and expand others to ensure violent criminals are kept behind bars where they belong.

TRANSPORTATION

I will also be looking forward to the completion of the work of our Total Transportation Commission. Clearly, effective transportation is critical to Missouri's economic vitality.

Our commission is reviewing all of our transportation needs as well as how we can best build and maintain a system of transportation for the next century. I want to commend the commission for their work to date. We will receive their recommendations later this year.

CONCLUSION

Once more, it is time for us to roll up our sleeves and begin the work which lies ahead. But as I begin this second term, I feel a larger responsibility than ever before because I will be the last governor of this century and the first governor of the next.

That distinction holds with it an obligation to lead our state in a manner that can bring one hundred years of accomplishments to a climactic close. But it also summons us to prepare for a new era. I have no doubt that together we can achieve both goals. The future begs for our best.

So I will be looking forward to working with you in the days ahead to do what's right for Missouri. But before we go to work, I'd like to ask you to do one thing for me. On your desk is an envelope. Would you please join me and pick yours up. In your hand, you now hold a life. Just like the lives you met today here in this chamber. Because in that envelope on a piece of paper is a story. The story of a single mom who has successfully left our welfare system to support herself and her kids. Or a child who now has new opportunities because of what we have done for education. Or a businessman or woman who is succeeding because we were there to help find and train the people needed to get the job done.

Every story is different. Every story is true. But one theme runs through them all. These are all Missourians who are successful because you helped write their stories...with your courage...your vision...and your passionate belief that we can make a difference. Don't lose those qualities. Read your story. You might even think about putting it away as a reminder.

So on those days when the meetings and the paperwork close in on you, you can read it again and keep your focus on why we're really here. Right now, these two hundred people are going about their business, and they are not thinking about you. But I hope you're thinking about them. For they are living better lives and have a brighter future because you are here for them.

In the words of the apostle Paul: "Let us not be weary in well-doing. For in due season we shall reap if we faint not."

Let those of us in this chamber be strong in that resolve. Let us close out this century in a blazing sunset of achievement the like of which our state has never seen before...confident that together, and with God's blessing, our best days are yet to come.

On motion of Senator Quick, the Joint Session was dissolved and the Senators returned to the Chamber where they were called to order by Senator Wiggins.

Senator Quick announced that photographers from KRCG-TV had been given permission to take pictures in the Senate Chamber today.

SENATE SUBSTITUTE FOR

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 3

WHEREAS, on November 8, 1994, the voters of Missouri adopted an amendment to the Missouri constitution, codified therein as section 3 of article XIII; and

WHEREAS, section 3 of article XIII provides that the compensation of statewide elected officials, members of the general assembly and certain members of the judiciary is to be set by the Missouri citizens commission on compensation for elected officials after a review and study of the relationship of the compensation of such officials to the duties of such officials; and

WHEREAS, the section 3 of article XIII provides that the purpose of the commission is to ensure that the power to control the rate of compensation of elected officials of this state is retained and exercised by the tax paying citizens of this state rather than by the general assembly; and

WHEREAS, in order to fulfill this purpose, the constitution provides that affected public officials shall not receive compensation for the performance of their duties, including salaries, mileage allowances or per diem expense allowances, "other than in the amount established for each office by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials , and that until July 1, 1997, the only compensation payable to the affected public officials shall be that in effect on the effective date of the amendment to the constitution denominated as article XIII, section 3; and

WHEREAS, the commission filed its report and schedule of compensation with the secretary of state and the revisor of statutes prior to December 1, 1996, as required by the constitution; and

WHEREAS, section 3 of article XIII provides that the schedule shall become effective on July 1, 1997, unless disapproved by concurrent resolution adopted by the general assembly prior to February 1, 1997; and

WHEREAS, section 3 of article XIII provides that implementation of the schedule of compensation, even after its adoption, is "subject to appropriation by the general assembly; and

WHEREAS, section 3 of article XIII leaves full or partial funding of the recommendations of the commission to the discretion of the general assembly; and

WHEREAS, the attorney general has opined to the members of the general assembly that If the General Assembly appropriates less money for the compensation of officials than the compensation shown in the Compensation Schedule prepared by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials , those officials are to be paid the lesser amount appropriated by the General Assembly rather than the amount shown in the Compensation Schedule. (Attorney General's Opinion No. 91-97, January 20, 1997); and

WHEREAS, the per diem allowance of thirty-five dollars per day has not been changed for twenty years and is inadequate to provide for expenses of members of the general assembly for lodging and meals while in session; and

WHEREAS, certain positions of leadership within the general assembly involve duties additional to those provided by law for other members of the general assembly, including presiding over the respective houses of the general assembly, administration of each respective house, representation of the viewpoint of groups of legislators in determining policy of each house, coordination of the proceedings of each house, and presiding and coordinating the consideration of the proposed state budget in the general assembly; and

WHEREAS, the per diem reimbursement for actual and necessary expenses incurred during meetings of the Missouri judicial conference, which requires mandatory attendance by Missouri judges, has been historically the same amount as that provided for members of the general assembly; and

WHEREAS, the chief justice of the supreme court has historically received a differential in salary in the amount of two thousand five hundred dollars per year, in compensation for additional administrative duties associated with such position; and

WHEREAS, although Missouri law supports the concept of a part-time legislature which meets approximately five months per year, legislators are frequently called upon to serve on interim committees exploring areas to be addressed in future legislative sessions and are also expected to be available to address constituent needs and problems regarding state government in their home districts; and

WHEREAS, current policies of the federal government have resulted in many governmental functions formerly exercised by the national government being transferred to state governments, including environmental regulation, public assistance, public health care, low income housing programs and special education programs, which have resulted in the need for well-informed legislators who must devote an increasing amount of time resolving problems now confronting state government; and

WHEREAS, the plain language of section 3 of article XIII suggests that if the general assembly adopts a concurrent resolution prior to February 1, 1997, disapproving the initial schedule of compensation filed by the commission, any compensation payable for the offices under the jurisdiction of the commission will be eliminated since the constitution states that the only salary payable is in the amount established for each office by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials ; and

WHEREAS, it is in the best interests of the state to avoid ambiguity and potential litigation in association with interpretation of the provisions of section 3 of article XIII of the constitution; and

WHEREAS, the general assembly has considered the 1996 Report and Compensation Schedule (Appendix A) of the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials dated November 30, 1996, and decides that the eighty-ninth general assembly shall fund the recommendations of the commission only to the extent as follows;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the senate of the first regular session of the eighty-ninth general assembly, the house of representatives concurring therein, that the maximum amount of compensation to be funded by the eighty-ninth general assembly pursuant to the report and schedule of compensation filed by the Missouri citizens commission on compensation for elected officials shall be as follows:

1. A per diem allowance for members of the general assembly for each day on which the journal of the senate or house of representatives, respectively, shows the presence of the senator or representative, in the amount indexed to the federal standard for Jefferson City, Missouri, promulgated by the Internal Revenue Service of the Department of Treasury;
2. The base salary for members of the general assembly in the amount as provided for fiscal year 1997;
3. The differential in pay for the positions in leadership within the general assembly shall be as set by law for fiscal year 1997;
4. With respect to statewide elected officials, the base salaries provided the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, state auditor and the attorney general in the amounts as provided for fiscal year 1997;
5. With respect to the judiciary:

(a) The base salaries for judges of the supreme court, court of appeals, circuit courts and associate circuit divisions of the circuit courts in the amounts as provided for fiscal year 1997;

(b) The amount of per diem reimbursement for expenses incurred during meetings of the Missouri judicial conference calculated in the same manner as the amount of per diem is calculated for legislators;

(c) The chief justice of the supreme court shall receive the additional two thousand five hundred dollars as provided for fiscal year 1997 to such position;

6. A mileage allowance for affected public officials indexed to the mileage allowance provided to other state employees for travel associated with the performance of their duties;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the terms of this resolution are binding on each house of the general assembly adopting this resolution by a majority of its elected members; and that either house after adopting this resolution shall not approve any appropriation pursuant to the report and schedule of compensation in excess of that provided by this resolution; and that in the event that the general assembly approves appropriations in excess of the appropriations necessary to implement the provisions of this resolution, the report and schedule of compensation shall be deemed disapproved as of the date of the adoption of this resolution;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the secretary of the senate is instructed to inform the governor and the secretary of state of the adoption of this resolution by delivering a properly certified copy of this resolution to such persons upon adoption of this resolution.

Our Dear and most Gracious Heavenly Father. We humble ourselves and our lives to Your almighty power. Those of us who found ourselves traveling our beautiful highways today firsthand witnessed both Your splendor and Your power as You have transformed our world into a winter wonderland. We thank You for the hand of safety You provided us in bringing us safely here today. We further ask You, Oh Lord, to provide safety to those who are traveling today. We as Your servants and as the servants of the citizens of this great state ask for Your guidance as we proceed with our duties set before us. As we now begin our legislative week and year, may we always remember that all things are possible through You. And as your servant Solomon did pray before us, we too pray for the wisdom You hold. CONSTITUTIONAL OBJECTIONS

Senators Schneider and Banks offered the following:

CONSTITUTIONAL OBJECTION

We object to further constitutional action to be taken on SCR 3 because its enactment by the General Assembly did not conform to the requirements of Article III and IV of the Constitution and is therefore constitutionally defective.

SCR 3 has the force and effect of law. In its enactment, the General Assembly has relied upon the provisions of Article XIII, Section 3 to disapprove the salary schedule adopted by the Missouri Citizens's Commission on the Compensation of Elected Officials.

The salary schedule of the Citizen's Commission on the Compensation of Elected Officials has the force and the effect of law. The commission has full authority to set the compensation for elected officials, including salary, mileage and per diem, at rates different from those formerly set in sections 21.140, 21.145, 26.010, 27.010, 28.010, 29.010, 30.010, 476.380, 477.120, 477.130, 478.013, 478.017, 478.018, 478.019, 478.020 and 478.023, RSMo. The schedule shall be published by the Secretary of State as a part of the session laws and shall be published by the Revisor of Statutes as a part of the Revised Statutes of Missouri.

The concurrent resolution purports to disapprove the salary schedule which in the absence of such disapproval, is intended to direct and permanently control matters applying to state officials' salaries, and thus the concurrent resolution has the force and effect of law. See State ex rel. Jones vs. Atterbury, 300 S.W. 2d 806 at 817 (Mo. banc 1957).

A concurrent resolution which has the force and effect of law must meet all of the constitutional requirements established for the passage of a bill. Article IV, Section 8, Behrer v Toberman 227 S.W. 2d 719 (Mo. banc 1950); State ex rel. Jones vs. Atterberry 300 S.W. 2d 806 at 817 (Mo. banc 1957).

SCR 3 was received from the Senate by the House of Representatives on January 27, 1997 and was referred to the House Committee on Rules, Joint Rules and Bills Perfected and Printed on the same day (House Journal, pp 198-199). The resolution was reported from the committee on January 28 (House Journal p 205) and "adopted" by the House on the same day (House Journal pp 211-212). Therefore the bill was in the possession of and considered by the House of Representatives for only two days.

SCR 3 was adopted by the House of Representatives in a manner which does not conform to the mandatory requirements of Article III, Section 21 which specify that "every bill shall be read by title on three different days in each house". SCR 3 was first read in the House of Representatives on January 27, was referred to committee on January 27 and was "adopted" by that chamber on January 28, in direct violation to the mandatory provisions of Article III, Section 21 and Article IV, Section 8 of the Constitution.

Senator Graves offered Senate Resolution No. 112, regarding A & G Restaurant, Maryville, which was adopted.

Senator Schneider offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Rules, Joint Rules and Resolutions:

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 113

WHEREAS, on November 8, 1994, the voters of Missouri adopted an amendment to the Missouri constitution, codified therein as section 3 of article XIII; and

WHEREAS, section 3 of article XIII provides that the compensation of statewide elected officials, members of the general assembly and certain members of the judiciary is to be set by the Missouri citizens commission on compensation for elected officials after a review and study of the relationship of the compensation of such officials to the duties of such officials; and

WHEREAS, the section 3 of article XIII provides that the purpose of the commission is to ensure that the power to control the rate of compensation of elected officials of this state is retained and exercised by the tax paying citizens of this state rather than by the general assembly; and

WHEREAS, in order to fulfill this purpose, the constitution provides that affected public officials shall not receive compensation for the performance of their duties, including salaries, mileage allowances or per diem expense allowances, "other than in the amount established for each office by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials , and that until July 1, 1997, the only compensation payable to the affected public officials shall be that in effect on the effective date of the amendment to the constitution denominated as article XIII, section 3; and

WHEREAS, the commission filed its report and schedule of compensation with the secretary of state and the revisor of statutes prior to December 1, 1996, as required by the constitution; and

WHEREAS, section 3 of article XIII provides that the schedule shall become effective on July 1, 1997, unless disapproved by concurrent resolution adopted by the general assembly prior to February 1, 1997; and

WHEREAS, section 3 of article XIII provides that implementation of the schedule of compensation, even after its adoption, is "subject to appropriation by the general assembly; and

WHEREAS, section 3 of article XIII leaves full or partial funding of the recommendations of the commission to the discretion of the general assembly; and

WHEREAS, the attorney general has opined to the members of the general assembly that If the General Assembly appropriates less money for the compensation of officials than the compensation shown in the Compensation Schedule prepared by the Missouri Citizen s Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials , those officials are to be paid the lesser amount appropriated by the General Assembly rather than the amount shown in the Compensation Schedule. (Attorney General s Opinion No. 91-97, January 20, 1997); and

WHEREAS, the per diem allowance of thirty-five dollars per day has not been changed for twenty years and is inadequate to provide for expenses of members of the general assembly for lodging and meals while in session; and

WHEREAS, certain positions of leadership within the general assembly involve duties additional to those provided by law for other members of the general assembly, including presiding over the respective houses of the general assembly, administration of each respective house, representation of the viewpoint of groups of legislators in determining policy of each house, coordination of the proceedings of each house, and presiding and coordinating the consideration of the proposed state budget in the general assembly; and

WHEREAS, the per diem reimbursement for actual and necessary expenses incurred during meetings of the Missouri judicial conference, which requires mandatory attendance by Missouri judges, has been historically the same amount as that provided for members of the general assembly; and

WHEREAS, the chief justice of the supreme court has historically received a differential in salary in the amount of two thousand five hundred dollars per year, in compensation for additional administrative duties associated with such position; and

WHEREAS, although Missouri law supports the concept of a part-time legislature which meets approximately five months per year, legislators are frequently called upon to serve on interim committees exploring areas to be addressed in future legislative sessions and are also expected to be available to address constituent needs and problems regarding state government in their home districts; and

WHEREAS, current policies of the federal government have resulted in many governmental functions formerly exercised by the national government being transferred to state governments, including environmental regulation, public assistance, public health care, low income housing programs and special education programs, which have resulted in the need for well-informed legislators who must devote an increasing amount of time resolving problems now confronting state government; and

WHEREAS, the plain language of section 3 of article XIII suggests that if the general assembly adopts a concurrent resolution prior to February 1, 1997, disapproving the initial schedule of compensation filed by the commission, any compensation payable for the offices under the jurisdiction of the commission will be eliminated since the constitution states that the only salary payable is in the amount established for each office by the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials ; and

WHEREAS, it is in the best interests of the state to avoid ambiguity and potential litigation in association with interpretation of the provisions of section 3 of article XIII of the constitution; and

WHEREAS, the general assembly has considered the 1996 Report and Compensation Schedule (Appendix A) of the Missouri Citizens Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials dated November 30, 1996, and decides that the eighty-ninth general assembly shall fund the recommendations of the commission only to the extent as follows;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the senate, eighty-ninth general assembly, that, upon adoption of the resolution by a majority of the elected members, the maximum amount of compensation to be funded by the eighty-ninth general assembly pursuant to the report and schedule of compensation filed by the Missouri citizens commission on compensation for elected officials shall be as follows:

1. A per diem allowance for members of the general assembly for each day on which the journal of the senate or house of representatives, respectively, shows the presence of the senator or representative, in the amount indexed to seventy percent of the federal standard promulgated by the Internal Revenue Service of the Department of the Treasury for Jefferson City, Missouri, as amended from time to time, but not less than seventy dollars;

2. The base salary for members of the general assembly in the amount as provided for fiscal year 1997;

3. The differential in salary for the positions in leadership within the general assembly shall be as provided for fiscal year 1997;

4. With respect to statewide elected officials, the base salaries provided the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, state auditor and the attorney general in the amounts as provided for fiscal year 1997;

5. With respect to the judiciary:

(a) The base salary of the judges of the supreme court, court of appeals, circuit courts and the associate circuit divisions of the circuit courts, in the amount as provided for fiscal year 1997;

(b) The amount of per diem reimbursement for expenses incurred during meetings of the Missouri judicial conference calculated in the same manner as the amount of per diem is calculated for legislators;

(c) The chief justice of the supreme court shall receive the additional two thousand five hundred dollars as provided for fiscal year 1997;

6. A mileage allowance for affected public officials indexed to the mileage allowance provided to other state employees for travel associated with the performance of their duties;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the secretary of the senate is instructed to inform the House of Representatives, the governor and the secretary of state of the adoption of this resolution by delivering a properly certified copy of this resolution to the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives and to such persons upon adoption of this resolution.

Senator Singleton offered Senate Resolution No. 114, regarding the Eightieth Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Arvel Long, Rocky Comfort, which was adopted.

"306.016. 1. By January 1, 1995, the owner of any vessel documented by the United States Coast Guard on August 28, 1994, and the new owner of any vessel purchased after August 28, 1994, who upon the sale or transfer of the vessel desires to document the vessel with the United States Coast Guard, shall apply for a vessel certificate of registration and pay a certification fee of seven dollars and fifty cents, an initial registration fee in an amount equal to the amount required for a certificate of number under section 306.030 and all applicable state and local or in lieu watercraft taxes as provided by law in effect on the date the vessel was documented or submit proof that all applicable registration fees have been paid to the department of revenue and all applicable taxes or in lieu watercraft taxes have been paid in this or another state. Such application shall include the county in which such vessel will be normally maintained by the new owner. A certificate of registration and a set of registration decals in a form the director shall prescribe shall be issued for a documented vessel. A Missouri resident shall make application for a vessel certificate of registration within thirty days of acquiring or bringing the vessel into this state. A nonresident shall make application for a vessel certificate of registration within sixty days after acquiring a vessel in this state or bringing a vessel into this state if the vessel will be kept in this state for a period in excess of sixty consecutive days. A delinquency penalty fee of ten dollars shall be imposed for each thirty days of delinquency, not to exceed a total of thirty dollars. If the director of revenue learns that any person has failed to make application for a vessel certificate of registration in accordance with this section or has sold a vessel documented by the United States Coast Guard without obtaining a certificate of registration as provided in this section, the director shall cancel the registration of all vessels and outboard motors registered in the name of the person, either as sole owner or a coowner, and shall notify the person that the cancellation will remain in force until the person pays the delinquency penalty fee together with all fees, charges, and payments which the person should have paid in connection with the vessel certificate of registration. A penalty fee or cancellation may only be imposed under this section upon a person who documented a vessel with the United States Coast Guard prior to August 28, 1994, if that person has received at least thirty days notice that registration of such vessel is required with the department of revenue.

2. A boat or vessel documented by the United States Coast Guard or other agency of the federal government and operated on the waters of this state shall not be liable for the payment of any state or local sales or use tax on the purchase, but shall be liable for the payment of an in lieu watercraft tax, which is hereby imposed. The in lieu watercraft tax shall be collected by the director of revenue and deposited in the state treasury to the credit of general revenue and shall be appropriated for use by the Missouri state water patrol. Watercraft dealers in this state shall report to the director of revenue on forms furnished by the director the sale of each watercraft sold to a resident of this state. If the watercraft is registered and licensed pursuant to the provisions of this chapter and all applicable sales taxes have been paid, the director shall not collect the in lieu tax imposed by this subsection. If the watercraft is registered with the United States Coast Guard or other agency of the federal government and not under the provisions of this chapter the director shall bill the purchaser of the watercraft for the in lieu tax imposed by this subsection. Any person who fails to pay the in lieu tax due under this section, within thirty days after receipt of the bill from the director of revenue, shall be liable to the same penalties imposed by law for failure to pay sales and use taxes due the state. The in lieu tax shall be determined as follows:

PURCHASE PRICE OF WATERCRAFT TAX DUE

$50,000 or less	$ 650.00
$50,001 to $100,000	1,250.00
$100,001 to $150,000	1,850.00
$150,001 to $200,000	2,450.00
$200,001 and above	3,050.00

3. The registration decals for any vessel documented by the United States Coast Guard shall be in force and effect for a period of three years so long as the vessel is owned or held by the original holder of the certificate of registration and shall be renewed upon application and payment of a registration renewal fee equal to the amount required for a certificate of number under section 306.030. The owner shall attach the registration decals to both sides of the forward half of the bow of the documented vessel in a place that is fully visible.

4. The department of revenue may issue a temporary vessel certificate of registration authorizing the operation of a vessel to be documented by the United States Coast Guard for not more than sixty days. The temporary registration shall be made available by the department of revenue and may be purchased from the department of revenue or from a dealer upon proof of purchase of a vessel. The department shall make temporary certificates of registration available to registered dealers in this state in sets of ten. The fee for the temporary certificates of registration shall be five dollars each. No dealer shall charge more than five dollars for each temporary certificate of registration issued. The temporary registration shall be valid for a period of sixty days from the date of issuance by the department of revenue to the purchaser of the vessel or from the date of sale of the vessel by a dealer from which the purchaser obtains a certificate of registration. The temporary certificate of registration shall be issued on a form prescribed by the department of revenue and issued only for the purchaser's use in the operation of the vessel purchased to enable the purchaser to legally operate the vessel while a certificate of registration is being obtained, and shall be displayed on no other vessel. Temporary certificates of registration issued under this section shall not be transferable or renewable and shall not be valid upon issuance of a proper certificate of registration. The dealer or authorized agent shall insert the date of issuance and expiration date, year, make and the manufacturer's identification number of the vessel on the temporary registration when issued to the purchaser. The dealer shall complete the information on the temporary registration in full. Every dealer that issues a temporary certificate of registration shall keep, for inspection by authorized officers, a correct record of each temporary certificate of registration issued by the dealer by recording the registration number, purchaser's name and address, year, make and manufacturer's identification number of the vessel on which the temporary certificate of registration is to be used and the date of issuance.

5. Upon the sale or transfer of any vessel documented by the United States Coast Guard for which a certificate of registration has been issued, the registration shall be terminated. If the new owner elects to have the vessel documented by the United States Coast Guard, the new owner shall submit, in addition to the properly assigned certificate of registration, proof of release from the documentation provided by the United States Coast Guard and shall comply with the provisions of this section. If the new owner elects not to document the vessel with the United States Coast Guard, the owner shall comply with the applicable provisions of this chapter.

6. The certificate of registration shall be available at all times for inspection on the vessel for which it is issued, whenever the vessel is in operation."; and

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senator Bentley offered the following concurrent resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Rules, Joint Rules and Resolutions:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 19

WHEREAS, families are an important institution in this nation and in the state of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, the role that parents play in a child's life is important and the time that parents spend with children is crucial to the future of our society; and

WHEREAS, since 1965, the amount of time that parents spend with their children has dropped forty percent; and

WHEREAS, a 1993 study found that sixty-six percent of adults surveyed nationwide wanted to spend more time with their children; and

WHEREAS, in 1960, less than nineteen percent of married women were in the workforce who had a spouse present and children less than six years of age, yet today, more than sixty percent of such women are in the workplace; and

WHEREAS, currently, seventy-six percent of mothers with school-age children are in the workforce; and

WHEREAS, inflexible work schedules conflict with school hours, day care arrangements and family emergencies; and

WHEREAS, working parents, especially working mothers, require flexible working schedules so that they can take the time to tend to their children's needs; and

WHEREAS, federal law allows public employees to have flexible working schedules, so that such employees can balance the needs of work and family; and

WHEREAS, federal law prohibits employees in the private sector from having flexibility in work schedules which public employees currently enjoy; and

WHEREAS, in the interest of creating equity between private and public sector employment, and in the interest of promoting the importance of family obligations in our society, private sector employees should be allowed to have flexibility in their work schedules in order to meet their family and personal obligations; and

WHEREAS, such flexibility can be established by allowing employees to opt for paid flexible leave; and

WHEREAS, paid flexible leave would allow a private sector employee to choose to work hours in addition to a forty-hour work week, and use those extra hours as compensatory time for a shorter, future work week. Such flexibility could be met by allowing an employee to work eighty hours over a two-week period in any combination that the employee wishes, or by allowing the employee to take time-and-a-half off instead of time-and-a-half pay for any overtime hours worked. The decision to work a flexible schedule would be solely at the option of the employee, not the employer; and

WHEREAS, federal law prohibits such flexibility at the option of the private sector employee;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the members of the Missouri Senate of the First Regular Session of the Eighty-ninth General

Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, that we respectfully urge the Congress of the United States to address this important issue by enacting legislation which would allow private sector employees to be able to choose paid flexible leave as set forth in this resolution; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution to be transmitted forthwith to the President of the United States, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, the President of the United States Senate, and to each member of the Missouri Delegation of Congress.

(4) The director of revenue, and any of his deputies, assistants, and employees who shall have any duties or responsibilities in connection with the collection, deposit, transfer, transmittal, disbursement, safekeeping, accounting, or recording of funds which come into the hands of the director of revenue under the provisions of this section shall enter a surety bond or bonds payable to any and all districts in whose behalf such funds have been collected under this section in the amount of one hundred thousand dollars, except that the director of revenue may enter into a blanket bond or bonds covering himself and all such deputies, assistants, and employees. The cost of the premium or premiums for the surety bond or bonds shall be paid by the director of revenue from the share of the collection retained by the director of revenue for the benefit of the state.

6. In the event any person fails or refuses to pay the amount of any sales tax due under this section, the director of revenue shall promptly notify the treasurer or other designated officer of the transportation development district to which the tax would be due so that appropriate action may be taken by the transportation development district.

(2) Whenever the board of directors of any transportation development district in which a transportation development sales tax has been imposed in the manner provided by this section receives a petition, signed by ten percent of the [registered] qualified voters [of such transportation development district voting in the last gubernatorial election,] calling for an election to repeal such transportation development sales tax, the board of directors shall, if such repeal will not impair the district's ability to repay any liabilities which it has incurred, money which it has borrowed or revenue bonds, notes or other obligations which it has issued or which have been issued by the commission or any local transportation authority to finance any project or projects, submit to the qualified voters of such transportation development district a proposal to repeal the transportation development sales tax imposed [under] pursuant to the provisions of this section. If a majority of the votes cast on the proposal by the [registered] qualified voters voting thereon are in favor of the proposal to repeal the transportation development sales tax, then the resolution imposing the transportation development sales tax, along with any amendments thereto, is repealed. If a majority of the votes cast by the [registered] qualified voters voting thereon are opposed to the proposal to repeal the transportation development sales tax, then the ordinance or resolution imposing the transportation development sales tax, along with any amendments thereto, shall remain in effect.

[9. The transportation development district sales tax authorized by this section may only be imposed by a transportation development district which consists of:

(1) All of one or more entire counties;

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any fiduciary holding securities in its fiduciary capacity and any insurance company with respect to its general account or separate accounts, any bank or trust company holding securities as a custodian or managing agent, and any bank or trust company holding securities as custodian for a fiduciary or insurance company is authorized to deposit or arrange for the deposit of such securities in a clearing corporation, or in a federal reserve bank under book-entry system. When such securities are so deposited with a clearing corporation, certificates representing securities of the same class of the same issuer may be merged and held in bulk in the name of the nominee of such clearing corporation by any person, regardless of the ownership of such securities, and certificates of small denomination may be merged into one or more certificates of larger denomination. The records of such fiduciary and the records of such bank or trust company acting as custodian, as managing agent, or as custodian for a fiduciary or insurance company shall at all times show the name of the party for whose account the securities are so deposited. Title to such securities may be transferred by bookkeeping entry on the books of such clearing corporation or federal reserve bank without physical delivery of certificates or documents representing such securities. A bank or trust company so depositing securities pursuant to this section shall be subject to such rules and regulations as the director of the division of finance, and, in the case of national banking associations, the comptroller of the currency, may from time to time issue. An insurance company depositing securities pursuant to this section shall be subject to such rules and regulations as the director of the department of insurance may from time to time issue. A bank or trust company acting as custodian for a fiduciary or insurance company shall, on demand by the fiduciary or insurance company, certify in writing to the fiduciary or insurance company the securities so deposited by such bank or trust company in such clearing corporation or federal reserve bank for the account of such fiduciary or insurance company. A fiduciary shall, on demand by any party to a judicial proceeding, or on demand by the attorney for such party, certify in writing to such party the securities deposited by such fiduciary in such clearing corporation or federal reserve bank for its account as such fiduciary. This section shall apply to any fiduciary holding securities in its fiduciary capacity, any insurance company with respect to its general account or separate accounts, and to any bank or trust company holding securities as a custodian, managing agent, or custodian for a fiduciary, or insurance company, acting on September 28, 1979, or who, thereafter, may act regardless of the date of the agreement, instrument, or court order by which it is appointed, and regardless of whether or not such fiduciary, insurance company, custodian, managing agent, or custodian for a fiduciary owns capital stock of such clearing corporation. For purposes of this subsection, "clearing corporation" shall also include securities intermediary as that term is defined in section 400.8-102(a)(14).

2. Further amend said bill, Page 72, Section 400.9-312, Line 57, by inserting immediately after all of said line the following:

"400.9-402. (1) A financing statement is sufficient if it gives the names of the debtor and the secured party, is signed by the debtor, gives an address of the secured party from which information concerning the security interest may be obtained, gives a mailing address of the debtor and contains a statement indicating the types, or describing the items, of collateral. A financing statement may be filed before a security agreement is made or a security interest otherwise attaches. [When the financing statement covers crops growing or to be grown, the statement must also contain a description of the real estate concerned.] When the financing statement covers timber to be cut or covers minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts subject to subsection (5) of section 400.9-103, or when the financing statement is filed as a fixture filing (section 400.9-313) and the collateral is goods which are or are to become fixtures, the statement must also comply with subsection (5). A copy of the security agreement is sufficient as a financing statement if it contains the above information and is signed by the debtor. A carbon, photographic or other reproduction of a security agreement or a financing statement is sufficient as a financing statement if the security agreement so provides or if the original has been filed in this state.

(2) A financing statement which otherwise complies with subsection (1) is sufficient when it is signed by the secured party instead of the debtor if it is filed to perfect a security interest in:

(a) collateral already subject to a security interest in another jurisdiction when it is brought into this state, or when the debtor's location is changed to this state. Such a financing statement must state that the collateral was brought into this state or that the debtor's location was changed to this state under such circumstances; or

(b) proceeds under section 400.9-306 if the security interest in the original collateral was perfected. Such a financing statement must describe the original collateral; or

(c) collateral as to which the filing has lapsed; or

(d) collateral acquired after a change of name, identity or corporate structure of the debtor (subsection (7)).

(3) A form substantially as follows is sufficient to comply with subsection (1):

Name of debtor (or assignor)

Address

Name of secured party (or assignee)

Address

1. This financing statement covers the following types (or items) of property:

(Describe)

[2. (If collateral is crops) The above described crops are growing or are to be grown on:

(Describe Real Estate)]

[3.] 2. (If applicable) The above goods are to become fixtures on*

*Where appropriate substitute either "The above timber is standing on" or "The above minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts will be financed at the wellhead or minehead of the well or mine located on"

(Describe Real Estate) and this financing statement is to be filed in the real estate records. (If the debtor does not have an interest of record) The name of a record owner is

[4.] 3. (If products of collateral are claimed) Products of the collateral are also covered.

(use whichever Signature of Debtor (or Assignee)

is applicable) Signature of Secured Party (or Assignee)

(4) A financing statement may be amended by filing a writing signed by both the debtor and the secured party. An amendment does not extend the period of effectiveness of a financing statement. If any amendment adds collateral, it is effective as to the added collateral only from the filing date of the amendment. In this article, unless the context otherwise requires, the term "financing statement" means the original financing statement and any amendments.

(5) A financing statement covering timber to be cut or covering minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts subject to subsection (5) of section 400.9-103, or a financing statement filed as a fixture filing (section 400.9-313) where the debtor is not a transmitting utility, must show that it covers this type of collateral, must recite that it is to be filed in the real estate records, and the financing statement must contain a description of the real estate sufficient if it were contained in a mortgage of the real estate to give constructive notice of the mortgage under the law of this state. If the debtor does not have an interest of record in the real estate, the financing statement must show the name of a record owner.

(6) A mortgage is effective as a financing statement filed as a fixture filing from the date of its recording if (a) the goods are described in the mortgage by item or type, (b) the goods are or are to become fixtures related to the real estate described in the mortgage, (c) the mortgage complies with the requirements for a financing statement in this section other than a recital that it is to be filed in the real estate records, and (d) the mortgage is duly recorded. No fee with reference to the financing statement is required other than the regular recording and satisfaction fees with respect to the mortgage.

(7) A financing statement sufficiently shows the name of the debtor if it gives the individual, limited liability company, partnership or corporate name of the debtor, whether or not it adds other trade names or the names of partners. Where the debtor so changes such debtor's name or in the case of an organization its name, identity or organizational structure that a filed financing statement becomes seriously misleading, the filing is not effective to perfect a security interest in collateral acquired by the debtor more than four months after the change, unless a new appropriate financing statement is filed before the expiration of that time. A financing statement shall not be deemed seriously misleading for purposes of this section by the merger, consolidation, share exchange or conversion of a debtor from one type of entity (e.g. corporation, partnership, limited partnership, limited liability company) into another and a corresponding change in the debtor's name, providing the debtor's name changes only to the extent of adding or changing the designation of the debtor's form of organization, and by way of example and not of limitation, the change from "incorporation" or "inc." to "limited liability company" or "LLC" is not seriously misleading, provided it follows the debtor's name. A filed financing statement remains effective with respect to collateral transferred by the debtor even though the secured party knows of or consents to the transfer.

(8) A financing statement substantially complying with the requirements of this section is effective even though it contains minor errors which are not seriously misleading."

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE

The following message was received from the House of Representatives through its Chief Clerk:

Mr. President: I am instructed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House has taken up and adopted HCR 12.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO.12

WHEREAS, the Federal Clean Air Act, as amended, 42 U.S.C. 7401 et seq., contains a comprehensive regulatory scheme for the control of emissions from mobile and stationary sources; and

WHEREAS, ozone and other air pollutants have declined substantially over the past 25 years throughout the United States due to implementation of the Clean Air Act, with additional progress expected as the 1990 Clean Air Act Amendments are implemented; and

WHEREAS, the Northeast Ozone Transport Commission ("OTC"), in an effort to remedy the serious ozone nonattainment conditions prevailing in urbanized areas of the Northeast, has proposed emission control requirements for stationary and mobile sources more stringent than those applicable to states outside of the Northeast Ozone Transport Region ("OTR"), including a petition to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA") concerning Low-Emitting Vehicle emission control requirements, and a Memorandum of Understanding concerning stationary source emission control requirements; and

WHEREAS, the OTC's initiatives together with other local emission control actions will help northeastern states to attain the national ambient air quality standard for ozone; and

WHEREAS, in response to concerns raised by certain northeastern states about the interstate transport of ozone, the U.S. EPA has convened the Ozone Transport Assessment Group ("OTAG"), involving representatives from 37 states to the west and south of the Northeast OTR, including Missouri, to consider means to reduce the atmospheric transport of ozone; and

WHEREAS, OTAG will develop recommendations in 1997 for emission control actions in states outside of the Northeast that may form the basis for U.S. EPA enforcement actions under the Clean Air Act, including the preparation and submission of State Implementation Plans calling for control actions in Missouri not specifically mandated by the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990; and

WHEREAS, both the Midwestern Governors' Association and the Southern Governors' Conference have adopted resolutions calling on U.S. EPA and OTAG, inter alia, to include state legislative participation within OTAG, but such participation has neither been invited nor taken place; and

WHEREAS, computer modeling studies prepared by OTAG indicate that: a) ozone nonattainment is caused predominantly by local emission sources in densely-populated urbanized areas; b) emissions originating in Missouri do not contribute significantly to ozone nonattainment in other states or regions; and c) even the most extreme emission controls imposed in local or in upwind areas would not permit some urban areas to demonstrate attainment of the national ozone standard; and

WHEREAS, emission controls for stationary and mobile sources under consideration by OTAG for states outside the Northeast are substantially more stringent and more costly than those mandated by the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990, and could impair the competitiveness of businesses and industries in Missouri, with negligible environmental benefits, and with adverse effects on employment and income in Missouri; and

WHEREAS, imposition of emission control requirements under consideration by OTAG could impede economic development and job creation to the detriment of the well-being of the citizens of Missouri and its economy; and

WHEREAS, legislative oversight of proposed actions of the Ozone Transport Assessment Group, and related actions of U.S. EPA directly or indirectly affecting the citizens and economy of Missouri, is in the public interest:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Missouri House of Representatives of the Eighty-ninth General Assembly, the Senate concurring therein, that the Director of the Department of Natural Resources be requested to provide periodic reports to the legislature on progress in the OTAG decision-making process, and submit any proposed OTAG recommendations, together with the explanation thereof, as expeditiously as practicable to the Governor, President Pro Tem of the Senate, Speaker of the House, and the Chairmen of the House Committee on Environment and Energy and the Senate Committee on Commerce and Environment for review and consideration; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that within a reasonable time following receipt of the aforesaid proposed OTAG recommendations, and prior to those recommendations being made final by OTAG, the committees shall convene public hearings to receive comments from agencies of government and other interested parties on the prospective economic and environmental impacts of said decisions or recommendations, including impacts on energy use, the environment, economic development, utility costs and rates, transportation fuel costs, and industrial competitiveness; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Chief Clerk of the Missouri House of Representatives be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copy of this resolution for the Director of the Department of Natural Resources.

In which the concurrence of the Senate is respectfully requested.

Our Father in Heaven, thank You for things often overlooked and seldom praised, a tongue with which to speak, a mind with which to think, hands with which to write, and feelings we can share. Lord, we would use these for good and not evil, to lift up and not tear down, to mend--to build--to help. Amen.

Upon conclusion of the examination, the director may allow the licensee to retain his license, may suspend or revoke the license of the licensee, or may issue to the examinee a license subject to restrictions as provided in section 302.301. If an examination indicates a condition that potentially impairs safe driving, the director, in addition to action with respect to the license, may require the licensee to submit to further periodic examinations. The refusal or neglect of the [operator] licensee to submit to [such] an examination within thirty days after the date of such notice shall be [ground] grounds for suspension or revocation of his license by the director, an associate circuit or circuit court.

3. The director shall have good cause to believe that an operator is incompetent or unqualified to retain his license on the basis of a report by a law enforcement officer, a physician licensed under chapter 334, RSMo, or any other person who has reached the age of eighteen. The report must state that the person reasonably and in good faith believes the driver cannot safely operate a motor vehicle. The report must be based upon personal observation or physical evidence which shall be described in the report, or the report shall be based upon an investigation by a law enforcement officer. The report shall be a written declaration in the form prescribed by the department of revenue and shall contain the name, address, telephone number, and signature of the person making the report.

Such report shall state the diagnosis and whether the condition is permanent or temporary. The existence of a physician-patient relationship shall not prevent the making of a report by a physician.

5. Any person who makes a report in good faith pursuant to this section shall be immune from any civil liability that otherwise might result from making the report. Notwithstanding the provisions of chapter 610, RSMo, to the contrary, all reports made and all medical records reviewed and maintained by the department of revenue under this section shall be kept confidential except upon order of a court of competent jurisdiction or in a review of the director's action pursuant to section 302.311.

6. The department of revenue shall keep records and statistics of reports made and actions taken against driver's licenses under this section.

7. The members of the board shall be licensed physicians and residents of this state. Of the original appointees, one shall serve for a term of two years and two shall serve for terms of four years. Subsequent appointees shall each serve for a term of four years or until their successors are appointed and approved. Any vacancy shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment for the remainder of the term. WHEREAS, Proposition A, which increased the gas tax by four cents, was approved by the voters in order to fund completion of these projects by the year 2002; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Highways and Transportation Department, in 1992, identified an additional detailed list of projects, known as the 15 Year Road and Bridge Program, providing four lane highway linkage for every community in Missouri with a population of at least 5,000 as an investment in the competitive potential of Missouri's agriculture, tourism and manufacturing base; providing for the reduction of accidents in Missouri with the goal of saving 6,700 lives, avoiding 265,000 injuries, and bringing about a fifty percent total reduction in accidents; and providing for the acceleration of Proposition A projects with completion scheduled for 1998; and

WHEREAS, House Bill No. 1247, which increased the gas tax by an additional six cents, was approved by the Legislature in order to fund the additional detailed list of projects and the acceleration of Proposition A; and

WHEREAS, in 1996, the name of the Missouri Highways and Transportation Department was changed to the Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT); and

WHEREAS, MoDOT has subsequently reported that gas tax revenues dedicated toward publicly specified bridge and highway system enhancements are no longer available or sufficient to complete Proposition A on schedule; and

WHEREAS, the six cent gasoline tax approved by the Legislature in 1992 to fund the 15 Year Road and Bridge Program will expire in the year 2007; and

WHEREAS, recent calculations by the Federal Highway Administration indicate that Federal-Aid Highway Funding for Missouri has matched or exceeded expectations for the period of 1992-1997; and

WHEREAS, MoDOT has also reported that the completion of the publicly specified list of projects constituting the 15 Year Road and Bridge Program is no longer feasible and priorities must be reassessed; and

WHEREAS, public confidence requires a full and accurate accounting by MoDOT before public commitments used for the approval of prior gas tax increases are abandoned or modified:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the Eighty-ninth General Assembly, the House of Representatives concurring therein, that the Committee on Legislative Research, Oversight Division, be directed to reconcile the original cost projections, construction schedules, and projected gas tax revenues as submitted to voters by Proposition A, with current projections, schedules, and anticipated receipts to identify all material shortfalls, diversions of dedicated resources and changes to construction specifications, including operating and overhead expenses, that have contributed to MoDOT's failure to complete Proposition A as promised; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Committee on Legislative Research, Oversight Division, also be directed to reconcile the original cost projections, construction schedules, and projected gas tax revenues as submitted to the Legislature by the 15 Year Road and Bridge Program, with current projections, schedules, and anticipated receipts to identify all material shortfalls, diversions of dedicated resources and changes to construction specifications, including operating and overhead expenses, that have contributed to MoDOT's failure to act on the 15 Year Road and Bridge Program as promised; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Attorney General be requested to render an opinion as to whether the six cent gas tax associated with the 15 Year Road and Bridge Program can be continued beyond the year 2007 without a vote of the public; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that MoDOT be directed to submit draft legislation to codify auditing, administrative control and reform measures to improve its financial planning, the integrity of its project cost estimates, and its expenditure of public funds; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that MoDOT be directed to submit plans for the acceleration of its Short Term Action Plan by $500 million in 1997 and 1998 through curtailed diversions of highway user fees and the dedication of additional MoDOT operational savings as the first step toward completion of Proposition A and the restoration of public confidence; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that MoDOT be directed to submit plans for a local planning process along rural corridor projects as proposed in the 15 Year Road and Bridge Program that reconciles the need for coordinating and planning over an extended geographical area with the need for local participation in order to build upon and expand MoDOT's success in developing a partnership with the St. Louis and Kansas City Regional Planning Commissions; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that any extensions, changes or shifts in priorities of the publicly approved fifteen-year plan shall be approved by the General Assembly.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE

The following message was received from the House of Representatives through its Chief Clerk:

Mr. President: I am instructed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House has taken up and adopted HCR 23.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 23

WHEREAS, the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has a responsibility under the federal Clean Air Act to review periodically the National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) for ozone and particulate matter (PM); and

WHEREAS, the EPA is considering changes to both NAAQS, which include tightening of the ozone standard and adding a separate standard for particulate matter smaller than two and one-half microns in size (PM 2.5) in addition to the existing standard for particulate matter smaller than ten microns in size (PM 10); and

WHEREAS, states, through their citizens, legislative bodies and regulatory agencies, have worked hard to reduce air pollution and meet clean air requirements; and

WHEREAS, tightened standards could significantly expand the number of nonattainment areas for both standards and result in emissions controls in additional areas, thus imposing significant economic, administrative and regulatory burdens on more citizens, businesses and local governments; and

WHEREAS, there is very little monitoring data for PM 2.5; and

WHEREAS, current research indicates that there are many unanswered questions and uncertainties on the PM issue and the need for a more stringent standard, including divergent opinions among scientists who have investigated this issue; and

WHEREAS, there is considerable uncertainty about the scientific validity of the theories, data, and conclusions upon which the proposed NAAQS are based and the cost and feasibility of complying with them; and

WHEREAS, the EPA's own scientific advisor, the Clean Air Science Advisory Committee (CASAC) has recommended that the EPA proceed cautiously and improve the existing state of scientific knowledge before taking costly steps to further control ozone and fine particle emissions:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri House of Representatives of the Eighty-ninth General Assembly, the Senate concurring therein, hereby advise and strongly urge the EPA to retain the existing NAAQS for ozone; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Missouri General Assembly further advises and strongly urges the EPA to reaffirm the existing PM 10 standard and conduct the additional PM 2.5 monitoring and scientific research needed to address the issue of causality and other important unanswered questions before a proposal for a new PM 2.5 standard or a revised PM 10 standard is made; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the General Assembly calls upon the EPA to delay its current consideration of the PM 2.5 standard until more information, including sound science and cost-effective data, is available; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the General Assembly urges the EPA to identify any unfunded mandates or other administrative and economic burdens for state or local governments or agencies that would derive from changes to the NAAQS for ozone and particulate matter; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Chief Clerk of the Missouri House of Representatives be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, the Missouri Congressional delegation, the Administrator of the United States Environmental Protection Agency, and the Director of the Missouri Department of Natural Resources.

In which the concurrence of the Senate is respectfully requested.

"135.100. As used in sections 135.100 to 135.150 the following terms shall mean:

(1) "Commencement of commercial operations" shall be deemed to occur during the first taxable year for which the new business facility is first available for use by the taxpayer, or first capable of being used by the taxpayer, in the revenue producing enterprise in which the taxpayer intends to use the new business facility;

(2) "Existing business facility", any facility in this state which was employed by the taxpayer claiming the credit in the operation of a revenue producing enterprise immediately prior to an expansion, acquisition, addition, or replacement;

(3) "Facility", any building used as a revenue producing enterprise located within the state, including the land on which the facility is located and all machinery, equipment and other real and depreciable tangible personal property acquired for use at and located at or within such facility and used in connection with the operation of such facility;

(4) "New business facility", a facility which satisfies the following requirements:

(a) Such facility is employed by the taxpayer in the operation of a revenue producing enterprise. Such facility shall not be considered a new business facility in the hands of the taxpayer if the taxpayer's only activity with respect to such facility is to lease it to another person or persons. If the taxpayer employs only a portion of such facility in the operation of a revenue producing enterprise, and leases another portion of such facility to another person or persons or does not otherwise use such other portions in the operation of a revenue producing enterprise, the portion employed by the taxpayer in the operation of a revenue producing enterprise shall be considered a new business facility, if the requirements of paragraphs (b), (c), (d) and (e) of this subdivision are satisfied;

(c) If such facility was acquired by the taxpayer from another person or persons and such facility was employed immediately prior to the transfer of title to such facility to the taxpayer, or to the commencement of the term of the lease of such facility to the taxpayer, by any other person or persons in the operation of a revenue producing enterprise, the operation of the same or a substantially similar revenue producing enterprise is not continued by the taxpayer at such facility;

(d) Such facility is not a replacement business facility, as defined in subdivision (10) of this section; and

(e) The new business facility investment exceeds one hundred thousand dollars during the tax period in which the credits are claimed;

(5) "New business facility employee", a person employed by the taxpayer in the operation of a new business facility during the taxable year for which the credit allowed by section 135.110 is claimed, except that truck drivers and rail and barge vehicle operators shall not constitute new business facility employees. For the purpose of apportionment as prescribed in this subdivision, the term "Missouri taxable income" means, in the case of insurance companies, direct premiums as defined in chapter 148, RSMo. If a taxpayer has income derived from the operation of a new business facility as well as from other activities conducted within this state, the Missouri taxable income derived by the taxpayer from the operation of the new business facility shall be determined by multiplying the taxpayer's Missouri taxable income, computed in accordance with chapter 143, RSMo, or in the case of an insurance company, computed in accordance with chapter 148, RSMo, by a fraction, the numerator of which is the property factor, as defined in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, plus the payroll factor, as defined in paragraph (b) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which is two:

The average value of all such property shall be determined as provided in chapter 32, RSMo;

(b) The payroll factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the total amount paid during the tax period by the taxpayer for compensation to persons qualifying as new business facility employees, as determined by subsection 4 of section 135.110, at the new business facility, and the denominator of which is the total amount paid in this state during the tax period by the taxpayer for compensation. For the purpose of this subdivision, "other activities conducted within this state" shall include activities previously conducted at the expanded, acquired or replaced facility at any time during the tax period immediately prior to the tax period in which commencement of commercial operations occurred;

(7) "New business facility investment", the value of real and depreciable tangible personal property, acquired by the taxpayer as part of the new business facility, which is used by the taxpayer in the operation of the new business facility, during the taxable year for which the credit allowed by section 135.110 is claimed, except that trucks, truck-trailers, truck semitrailers, rail and barge vehicles and other rolling stock for hire, track, switches, barges, bridges, tunnels and rail yards and spurs shall not constitute new business facility investments. (b) Eight times the net annual rental rate, if leased by the taxpayer. The net annual rental rate shall be the annual rental rate paid by the taxpayer less any annual rental rate received by the taxpayer from subrentals. The new business facility investment shall be determined by dividing by twelve the sum of the total value of such property on the last business day of each calendar month of the taxable year. If the new business facility is in operation for less than an entire taxable year, the new business facility investment shall be determined by dividing the sum of the total value of such property on the last business day of each full calendar month during the portion of such taxable year during which the new business facility was in operation by the number of full calendar months during such period;

"Industry" does not include a business which closes or substantially reduces its operation in one area of the state and relocates substantially the same operation in another area of the state. This does not prohibit a business from expanding its operations in another area of the state provided that existing operations of a similar nature are not closed or substantially reduced;

(8) "New job", a job in a new or expanding industry not including jobs of recalled workers, or replacement jobs or other jobs that formerly existed in the industry in the state;

(9) "New jobs credit from withholding", the credit as provided in section 178.894;

(10) "New jobs training program" or "program", the project or projects established by a community college district, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education for the creation of jobs by providing education and training of workers for new jobs for new or expanding industry in the state;

(11) "Program costs", all necessary and incidental costs of providing program services including payment of the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on certificates, including capitalized interest, issued to finance a project, funding and maintenance of a debt service reserve fund to secure such certificates and wages, salaries and benefits of employees participating in on-the-job training;

(12) "Program services" includes, but is not limited to, the following:

(a) New jobs training;

(b) Adult basic education and job-related instruction;

(c) Vocational and skill-assessment services and testing;

(d) Training facilities, equipment, materials, and supplies;

(e) On-the-job training;

(f) Administrative expenses equal to fifteen percent of the total training costs;

(h) Contracted or professional services; and

(i) Issuance of certificates;

(13) "Project", a training arrangement which is the subject of an agreement entered into between the community college district, a state technical college or four year state institution of higher education and an employer to provide program services;

(14) "Total training costs", costs of training, including supplies, wages and benefits of instructors, subcontracted services, on-the-job training, training facilities, equipment, skill assessment and all program services excluding issuance of certificates.

178.893. A community college district, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education, with the approval of the department of economic development in consultation with the office of administration, may enter into an agreement to establish a project and provide program services to an employer. As soon as possible after initial contact between a community college district, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education and a potential employer regarding the possibility of entering into an agreement, the district or college shall inform the division of job development and training of the department of economic development and the office of administration about the potential project. The division of job development and training shall evaluate the proposed project within the overall job training efforts of the state to ensure that the project will not duplicate other job training programs. The department of economic development shall have fourteen days from receipt of the application to approve or disapprove projects. If no response is received by the community college, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education within fourteen days the projects are approved. Any project that is disapproved must be in writing stating the reasons for the disapproval. If an agreement is entered into, the district and the employer shall notify the department of revenue within fifteen calendar days. An agreement may provide, but is not limited to:

(1) Payment of program costs, including deferred costs, which may be paid from one or a combination of the following sources:

(a) Funds appropriated by the general assembly from the Missouri junior college job training program fund and disbursed by the division of job development and training in respect of new jobs credit from withholding to be received or derived from new employment resulting from the project;

(b) Tuition, student fees, or special charges fixed by the board of trustees to defray program costs in whole or in part;

(c) Guarantee of payments to be received under paragraph (a) or (b) of this subdivision;

(2) Payment of program costs shall not be deferred for a period longer than ten years if program costs do not exceed five hundred thousand dollars, or eight years if program costs exceed five hundred thousand dollars from the date of commencement of the project;

(3) Costs of on-the-job training for employees, shall include wages or salaries of participating employees. Payments for on-the-job training shall not exceed the average of fifty percent of the total percent of the total wages paid by the employer to each participant during the period of training. Payment for on-the-job training may continue for up to six months after the placement of the participant in the new job;

(4) A provision which fixes the minimum amount of new jobs credit from withholding, or tuition and fee payments which shall be paid for program costs;

(5) Any payment required to be made by an employer is a lien upon the employer's business property until paid and has equal precedence with ordinary taxes and shall not be divested by a judicial sale. Property subject to the lien may be sold for sums due and delinquent at a tax sale, with the same forfeitures, penalties, and consequences as for the nonpayment of ordinary taxes. The purchasers at tax sale obtain the property subject to the remaining payments.

178.894. If an agreement provides that all or part of program costs are to be met by receipt of new jobs credit from withholding, such new jobs credit from withholding shall be determined and paid as follows:

(1) New jobs credit from withholding shall be based upon the wages paid to the employees in the new jobs;

(2) A portion of the total payments made by the employer pursuant to section 143.221, RSMo, shall be designated as the new jobs credit from withholding. Such portion shall be an amount equal to two and one-half percent of the gross wages paid by the employer for each of the first one hundred jobs included in the project and one and one-half percent of the gross wages paid by the employer for each of the remaining jobs included in the project. If business or employment conditions cause the amount of the new jobs credit from withholding to be less than the amount projected in the agreement for any time period, then other withholding tax paid by the employer pursuant to section 143.221, RSMo, shall be credited to the Missouri junior college job training fund by the amount of such difference. The employer shall remit the amount of the new jobs credit to the department of revenue in the manner prescribed in section 178.896. When all program costs, including the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on the certificates have been paid, the employer credits shall cease;

(3) The community college district, the state technical college or four year state institution of higher education participating in a project shall establish a special fund for and in the name of the project. All funds appropriated by the general assembly from the Missouri community college job training program fund and disbursed by the division of job development and training for the project and other amounts received by the district or college in respect of the project and required by the agreement to be used to pay program costs for the project shall be deposited in the special fund. Amounts held in the special fund may be used and disbursed by the district or college only to pay program costs for the project. The special fund may be divided into such accounts and subaccounts as shall be provided in the agreement, and amounts held therein may be invested in investments which are legal for the investment of the district's other funds;

(4) Any disbursement in respect of a project received from the division of job development and training under the provisions of sections 178.892 to 178.896 and the special fund into which it is paid may be irrevocably pledged by a junior college district, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education for the payment of the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on the certificate issued by a junior college district, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education to finance or refinance, in whole or in part, the project;

(5) The employer shall certify to the department of revenue that the credit from withholding is in accordance with an agreement and shall provide other information the department may require;

(6) An employee participating in a project will receive full credit for the amount designated as a new jobs credit from withholding and withheld as provided in section 143.221, RSMo;

(7) If an agreement provides that all or part of program costs are to be met by receipt of new jobs credit from withholding, the provisions of this subsection shall also apply to any successor to the original employer until such time as the principal and interest on the certificates have been paid.

178.895. 1. To provide funds for the present payment of the costs of new jobs training programs, a community college district, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education may borrow money and issue and sell certificates payable from a sufficient portion of the future receipts of payments authorized by the agreement including disbursements from the Missouri community college job training program to the special fund established by the district, college or university for each project. The total amount of outstanding certificates sold by all junior college districts, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education shall not exceed twenty million dollars, unless an increased amount is authorized in writing by a majority of members of the Missouri job training joint legislative oversight committee. The certificates shall be marketed through financial institutions authorized to do business in Missouri. The receipts shall be pledged to the payment of principal of and interest on the certificates. Certificates may be sold at public sale or at private sale at par, premium, or discount of not less than ninety-five percent of the par value thereof, at the discretion of the board of trustees, and may bear interest at such rate or rates as the board of trustees shall determine, notwithstanding the provisions of section 108.170, RSMo, to the contrary. However, chapter 176, RSMo, does not apply to the issuance of these certificates. Certificates may be issued with respect to a single project or multiple projects and may contain terms or conditions as the board of trustees may provide by resolution authorizing the issuance of the certificates.

2. Certificates issued to refund other certificates may be sold at public sale or at private sale as provided in this section with the proceeds from the sale to be used for the payment of the certificates being refunded. The refunding certificates may be exchanged in payment and discharge of the certificates being refunded, in installments at different times or an entire issue or series at one time. Refunding certificates may be sold or exchanged at any time on, before, or after the maturity of the outstanding certificates to be refunded. They may be issued for the purpose of refunding a like, greater, or lesser principal amount of certificates and may bear a higher, lower, or equivalent rate of interest than the certificates being renewed or refunded.

3. Before certificates are issued, the board of trustees shall publish once a notice of its intention to issue the certificates, stating the amount, the purpose, and the project or projects for which the certificates are to be issued. A person may, within fifteen days after the publication of the notice, by action in the circuit court of a county in the district, appeal the decision of the board of trustees to issue the certificates. The action of the board of trustees in determining to issue the certificates is final and conclusive unless the circuit court finds that the board of trustees has exceeded its legal authority. An action shall not be brought which questions the legality of the certificates, the power of the board of trustees to issue the certificates, the effectiveness of any proceedings relating to the authorization of the project, or the authorization and issuance of the certificates from and after fifteen days from the publication of the notice of intention to issue.

4. The board of trustees shall determine if revenues provided in the agreement are sufficient to secure the faithful performance of obligations in the agreement.

5. Certificates issued under this section shall not be deemed to be an indebtedness of the state [or], the community college district, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education or of any other political subdivision of the state and the principal and interest on such certificates shall be payable only from the sources provided in subdivision (1) of section 178.893 which are pledged in the agreement.

6. The department of economic development shall coordinate the new jobs training program, and may promulgate rules that districts, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education will use in developing projects with new and expanding industrial new jobs training proposals which shall include rules providing for the coordination of such proposals with the service delivery areas established in the state to administer federal funds pursuant to the federal Job Training Partnership Act. No rule or portion of a rule promulgated under the authority of sections 178.892 to 178.896 shall become effective unless it has been promulgated pursuant to the provisions of section 536.024, RSMo.

7. [No] A community college district [may] state technical college or four year state institution of higher education shall not sell certificates as described in this section after July 1, [1998] 2008.

178.896. 1. There is hereby established within the state treasury a special fund, to be known as the "Missouri Community College Job Training Program Fund", to be administered by the division of job development and training. The department of revenue shall credit to the community college job training program fund, as received, all new jobs credit from withholding remitted by employers pursuant to section 178.894. The fund shall also consist of any gifts, contributions, grants or bequests received from federal, private or other sources. The general assembly, however, shall not provide for any transfer of general revenue funds into the community college job training program fund. Moneys in the Missouri community college job training program fund shall be disbursed to the division of job development and training pursuant to regular appropriations by the general assembly. The division shall disburse such appropriated funds in a timely manner into the special funds established by community college districts, state technical college or four year state institution of higher education for projects, which funds shall be used to pay program costs, including the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on certificates issued by the district to finance or refinance, in whole or in part, a project. Such disbursements by the division of job development and training shall be made to the special fund for each project in the same proportion as the new jobs credit from withholding remitted by the employer participating in such project bears to the total new jobs credit from withholding remitted by all employers participating in projects during the period for which the disbursement is made. Moneys for new jobs training programs established under the provisions of sections 178.892 to 178.896 shall be obtained from appropriations made by the general assembly from the Missouri community college job training program fund. All moneys remaining in the Missouri community college job training program fund at the end of any fiscal year shall not lapse to the general revenue fund, as provided in section 33.080, RSMo, but shall remain in the Missouri community college job training program fund.

2. The department of revenue shall develop such forms as are necessary to demonstrate accurately each employer's new jobs credit from withholding paid into the Missouri community college job training program fund. The new jobs credit from withholding shall be accounted as separate from the normal withholding tax paid to the department of revenue by the employer. Reimbursements made by all employers to the Missouri community college job training program fund shall be no less than all allocations made by the division of job development and training to all community college districts for all projects. The employer shall remit the amount of the new job credit to the department of revenue in the same manner as provided in sections 143.191 to 143.265, RSMo.

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 449

WHEREAS, from time to time the members of the Missouri Senate suspend the work of creating laws to recognize the meritorious endeavors of outstanding state employees, a most delightful task which this legislative body embraces with great enthusiasm; and

WHEREAS, Betty J. Day is retiring from her position as Administrative Assistant to Senator Betty Sims after twenty-five years of dedicated service to the great State of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, Betty Day is known, admired, and respected for the professional, conscientious, and skilled manner in which she faithfully performs all of her significant duties and responsibilities with a helpful attitude and contagious smile; and

WHEREAS, a graduate of the University of Missouri-Columbia, Betty Day has distinguished herself as a member of the Missouri Board of Probation and Parole, as Extradition Officer to Governors Bond and Ashcroft, as Treasurer of the National Association of Extradition Officials, as Executive Secretary to Judge Albert L. Rendlen of the Missouri Supreme Court, and as Extradition Assistant and Secretary to the Counsel to Governor Bond; and

WHEREAS, better known as the "perpetual snack lady", Betty Day once found herself in quite a quandary: she could not use her air conditioner and her oven at the same time because of the home's wiring configuration - a situation which caused her to quit cooking in the oven and begin using it for storing cookies and other goodies; and

WHEREAS, a lady who will be greatly missed by her co-workers at the capitol, Betty Day has never met a person, place, or thing she could not talk to, maintains a full array of color-coordinated sets of lingerie, and truly believes that "home-made" gravy comes in a can; and

WHEREAS, Betty Day has been richly blessed with the love and affection of her wonderful family which includes her devoted husband, Tom; their three fine sons, Patrick, Mike, and Steve; and their three delightful grandsons:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Missouri Senate, Eighty-ninth General Assembly, unanimously join in expressing our most sincere appreciation to Betty J. SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 17

Amend Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bills Nos. 202, 23, and 183, Page 45, Section 31, Line 9 of said page, by inserting immediately after all of said line the following:

"Section 32. 1. The delegation of authority to the department of social services to propose to the general assembly rules or regulations pursuant to this act is contingent upon the department complying with the provisions of this section and this delegation of legislative power to the department to promulgate proposed rules and proposed orders of rulemaking that have the effect of substantive law, other than rules relating to the department's organization and internal management, is contingent and dependent upon the power of the general assembly to review proposed orders of rulemaking, to delay the effective date of the proposed final order of rulemaking until thirty legislative days after such rule is filed with the general assembly and the secretary of state, and to disapprove any rule or portion thereof as provided herein.

2. No rule or portion of a rule that has the effect of substantive law, and is promulgated under this section shall become effective until it has been reviewed by the general assembly in accordance with the procedures provided herein and the department's authority to propose rules is dependent upon the power of the general assembly to review and disapprove any such proposed rule or portion thereof by concurrent resolution adopted in accordance with the provisions of article IV, section 8 of the Missouri constitution.

3. The department may promulgate a proposed rule by complying with the procedures provided in section 536.021, RSMo, except that the notice of proposed rulemaking shall first be filed with the general assembly by providing a copy to the joint committee on administrative rules which may hold hearings upon any proposed rule or portion thereof at any time. The department shall cooperate with the joint committee on administrative rules by providing any witnesses, documents or information as may be requested.

4. Except as otherwise provided herein, the department shall comply with the provisions of section 536.021, RSMo, except that the department may file a proposed order of rulemaking with the secretary of state only by first filing a copy thereof with the general assembly and thereafter providing a copy to the secretary of the senate and the clerk of the house of representatives. The president pro tem of the senate shall direct that a copy of the proposed order of rulemaking be delivered to the director of the joint committee on administrative rules.

5. The proposed order of rulemaking shall not become effective until thirty legislative days after such proposed final order of rulemaking has been filed with the secretary of state. The joint committee on administrative rules may hold one or more hearings upon such proposed final order of rulemaking.

6. The committee may, by majority vote of its members, recommend that the general assembly disapprove any rule or portion thereof, after hearings and upon a finding that such rule or portion thereof is substantive in nature in that it creates rights or liabilities or provides for sanctions as to any person, corporation or other legal entity, and that such rule or portion of a rule should be disapproved for one or more of the following grounds:

- (1) An absence of statutory authority for the proposed rule;
- (2) An emergency relating to public health, safety or welfare;

(3) The proposed rule is in conflict with state law;

(4) A substantial change in circumstance since enactment of the law upon which the proposed rule is based;

(5) The proposed rule is arbitrary and capricious.

Upon such action by the committee, the general assembly may adopt a concurrent resolution in accordance with the provisions of article IV, section 8 of the Missouri constitution to disapprove and hold ineffective any rule or portion thereof upon the grounds stated in this subsection. If a concurrent resolution is adopted and presented to the governor pursuant to article IV, section 8 of the Missouri constitution, the secretary of state shall publish in the Missouri Register, as soon as practicable, a notice amending the order of rulemaking as provided.

7. The secretary of state may publish the proposed order of rulemaking as soon as practicable after the expiration of thirty legislative days.

8. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 1.140, RSMo, the provisions of this section are nonseverable and the delegation of authority to propose a final order of rulemaking is essentially dependent upon the powers vested with the general assembly as provided herein. If any of the powers vested with the general assembly to review, to delay the effective date, to disapprove, or hold ineffective a rule or portion of a rule contained in an order of rulemaking, are held unconstitutional or invalid, the purported grant of rulemaking authority and any rule promulgated under such purported rulemaking authority delegated to the department by this act shall be invalid and void.

9. Nothing in this section shall prevent the general assembly from adopting by bill the rules proposed by the department by reference to said rules. In that event, the rules proposed by the department in any order of rulemaking shall be held for naught and only such rules as are adopted by the general assembly shall become effective as submitted to the governor by bill. In that event, the secretary of state shall not publish the proposed order of rulemaking and said proposed order of rulemaking shall be invalid and held for naught."; and

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 20

Amend Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bills Nos. 202, 23, and 183, Page 45,

Section 31, Line 9 of said page, by inserting immediately after all of said line the following:

"Section 32. 1. The delegation of authority to the department of social services to propose to the general assembly rules or regulations pursuant to this act is contingent upon the department complying with the provisions of this section and this delegation of legislative power to the department to promulgate proposed rules and proposed orders of rulemaking that have the effect of substantive law, other than rules relating to the department's organization and internal management, is contingent and dependent upon the power of the general assembly to review proposed orders of rulemaking, to delay the effective date of the proposed final order of rulemaking until thirty legislative days after such rule is filed with the general assembly and the secretary of state, and to disapprove any rule or portion thereof as provided herein.

2. No rule or portion of a rule that has the effect of substantive law, and is promulgated under this section shall become effective until it has been reviewed by the general assembly in accordance with the procedures provided herein and the department's authority to propose rules is dependent upon the power of the general assembly to review and disapprove any such proposed rule or portion thereof by concurrent resolution adopted in accordance with the provisions of article IV, section 8 of the Missouri constitution.

3. The department may promulgate a proposed rule by complying with the procedures provided in section 536.021, RSMo, except that the notice of proposed rulemaking shall first be filed with the general assembly by providing a copy to the joint committee on administrative rules which may hold hearings upon any proposed rule or portion thereof at any time. The department shall cooperate with the joint committee on administrative rules by providing any witnesses, documents or information as may be requested.

4. Except as otherwise provided herein, the department shall comply with the provisions of section 536.021, RSMo, except that the department may file a proposed order of rulemaking with the secretary of state only by first filing a copy thereof with the general assembly by providing a copy to the secretary of the senate and the clerk of the house of representatives. The president pro tem of the senate shall direct that a copy of the proposed order of rulemaking be delivered to the director of the joint committee on administrative rules.

5. The proposed order of rulemaking shall not become effective until thirty legislative days after such proposed final order of rulemaking has been filed with the secretary of state. The joint committee on administrative rules may hold one or more hearings upon such proposed final order of rulemaking.

6. The committee may, by majority vote of its members, recommend that the general assembly disapprove any rule or portion thereof, after hearings and upon a finding that such rule or portion thereof is substantive in nature in that it creates rights or liabilities or provides for sanctions as to any person, corporation or other legal entity, and that such rule or portion of a rule should be disapproved for one or more of the following grounds:

- (1) An absence of statutory authority for the proposed rule;
- (2) An emergency relating to public health, safety or welfare;
- (3) The proposed rule is in conflict with state law;
- (4) A substantial change in circumstance since enactment of the law upon which the proposed rule is based;
- (5) The proposed rule is arbitrary and capricious.

7. The general assembly may adopt a concurrent resolution in accordance with the provisions of article IV, section 8 of the Missouri constitution to disapprove and hold for naught any rule or portion thereof upon the grounds stated in this subsection.

8. Any rule or portion thereof not disapproved within thirty legislative days shall be deemed approved by the general assembly and the secretary of state may publish such order of rulemaking as soon as practicable after the expiration of thirty legislative days. Upon adoption of such concurrent resolution within thirty legislative days, the secretary of state shall not publish the order of rulemaking until the expiration of time necessary for such resolution to be signed by the governor or vetoed and overridden by the general assembly. If a concurrent resolution is adopted and signed by the governor or a veto of such resolution is overridden, the secretary of state shall publish in the Missouri Register, as soon as practicable, a notice amending the order of rulemaking as provided.

9. The secretary of state may publish the proposed order of rulemaking as soon as practicable after the expiration of thirty legislative days.

10. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 1.140, RSMo, the provisions of this section are nonseverable and the delegation of authority to propose a final order of rulemaking is essentially dependent upon the powers vested with the general assembly as provided herein. If any of the powers vested with the general assembly to review, to delay the effective date, to disapprove, or hold ineffective a rule or portion of a rule contained in an order of rulemaking, are held unconstitutional or invalid, the purported grant of rulemaking authority and any rule promulgated under such purported rulemaking authority delegated to the department by this act shall be invalid and void.

11. Nothing in this section shall prevent the general assembly from adopting by bill the rules or portions thereof proposed by the department as contained in an order of rulemaking. In that event, the proposed order of rulemaking and any rule proposed therein shall be held for naught and only such rules as are adopted by the general assembly shall become effective as submitted to the governor by bill. In that event, the secretary of state shall not publish the proposed order of rulemaking and said proposed order of rulemaking shall be invalid and held for naught."; and this section is submitted to a statewide vote and a majority of the qualified voters voting on the issue approve such question, and not otherwise.

2. If the supreme court of Missouri does not affirm in whole or in part the decision in the case of COMMITTEE FOR EDUCATION EQUALITY, et al., v. STATE OF MISSOURI, et al., No. CV 190-1371CC, and LEE'S SUMMIT SCHOOL DISTRICT R-VII, et al., v. 160.545. 1. There is hereby established within the department of elementary and secondary education the "A+ Schools Program" to be administered by the commissioner of education. The program shall consist of grant awards made to public secondary schools that demonstrate a commitment to ensure that:

(1) All students be graduated from school;

(2) All students complete a selection of high school studies that is challenging and for which there are identified learning expectations; and

(3) All students proceed from high school graduation to a college or postsecondary vocational or technical school or high wage job with work place skill development opportunities.

2. The state board of education shall promulgate rules and regulations for the approval of grants made under the program to schools that:

(1) Establish measurable district-wide performance standards for the goals of the program outlined in subsection 1 of this section; and

(2) Specify the knowledge, skills and competencies, in measurable terms, that students must demonstrate to successfully complete any individual course offered by the school, and any course of studies which will qualify a student for graduation from the school; and

(3) Do not offer a general track of courses that, upon completion, can lead to a high school diploma; and

(4) Require rigorous coursework with standards of competency in basic academic subjects for students pursuing vocational and technical education as prescribed by rule and regulation of the state board of education; and

(5) Have a partnership plan developed in cooperation and with the advice of local business persons, labor leaders, parents, and representatives of college and postsecondary vocational and technical school representatives, with the plan then approved by the local board of education. The plan shall specify a mechanism to receive information on an annual basis from those who developed the plan in addition to senior citizens, community leaders, and teachers to update the plan in order to best meet the goals of the program as provided in subsection 1 of this section. Further, the plan shall detail the procedures used in the school to identify students that may drop out of school and the intervention services to be used to meet the needs of such students. The plan shall outline counseling and mentoring services provided to students who will enter the work force upon graduation from high school, address apprenticeship and intern programs, and shall contain procedures for the recruitment of volunteers from the community of the school to serve in schools receiving program grants.

3. By rule and regulation, the state board of education may determine a local school district variable fund match requirement in order for a school or schools in the district to receive a grant under the program. However, no school in any district shall receive a grant under the program unless the district designates a salaried employee to serve as the program coordinator, with the district assuming a minimum of one-half the cost of the salary and other benefits provided to the coordinator. Further, no school in any district shall receive a grant under the program unless the district makes available facilities and services for adult literacy training as specified by rule of the state board of education.

4. For any school that meets the requirements for the approval of the grants authorized by this section and specified in subsection 2 of this section for three successive school years, by August first following the third such school year, the commissioner of education shall present a plan to the superintendent of the school district in which such school is located for the waiver of rules and regulations to promote flexibility in the operations of the school and to enhance and encourage efficiency in the delivery of instructional services in the school. The provisions of other law to the contrary notwithstanding, the plan presented to the superintendent shall provide a summary waiver, with no conditions, for the pupil testing requirements pursuant to section 160.257 in the school. Further, the provisions of other law to the contrary notwithstanding, the plan shall detail a means for the waiver of requirements otherwise imposed on the school related to the authority of the state board of education to classify school districts pursuant to subdivision (9) of section 161.092, RSMo, and such other rules and regulations as determined by the commissioner of education, except such waivers shall be confined to the school and not other schools in the school district unless such other schools meet the requirements of this subsection. However, any waiver provided to any school as outlined in this subsection shall be void on June thirtieth of any school year in which the school fails to meet the requirements for the approval of the grants authorized by this section as specified in subsection 2 of this section.

5. Within the amount appropriated for the program, in addition to the grants to public schools authorized by subsections 1 to 3 of this section, the commissioner of education shall, by rule and regulation of the state board of education and with the advice of the coordinating board for higher education, establish a procedure for the reimbursement of the cost of tuition, books and fees to any public four-year college or any public community college or vocational or technical school for any student:

(1) Who has attended a public high school in the state for at least three years immediately prior to graduation that meets the requirements of subsection 2 of this section; and

(2) Who has made a good faith effort to first secure all available federal sources of funding that could be applied to the reimbursement described in this subsection; and

(3) Who has earned a minimal grade average while in high school as determined by rule of the state board of education, and other requirements for the reimbursement authorized by this subsection as determined by rule and regulation of said board.

6. The commissioner of education shall develop a procedure for evaluating the effectiveness of the program described in this section. WHEREAS, ensuring adequate and affordable telecommunications services and energy services and sources will necessitate a fair and equitable structure of taxes across different telecommunications and energy services and across different regions of the state; and

Senator Howard submitted the following:

April 7, 1997

Ms. Terry Spieler

Secretary of the Senate

State Capitol Building

Jefferson City, MO 65101

Dear Ms. Spieler:

I respectfully request that House Bill 207 be removed from consent. The bill contains provisions that eliminate the Missouri Motor Vehicle Commission. Motor vehicle dealers and legislators worked hard to create a regulatory body that would allow dealers to be regulated by people who understand the industry best.

The responsibilities for the commission were previously under the direct control of the Department of Revenue. After dealers had experienced a wide-range of hassles and delays from revenue for years, they chose to create a commission. This bill would destroy a good, useful government entity.

House Bill 207 is clearly too controversial to remain a consent bill. Thank you for your consideration in this important matter.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Jerry

3. Every licensee shall be required to file a renewal application, in the form and subject matter as prescribed by the board.

4. At the time of application for renewal of a professional bail bond company license, there shall be paid to the board for the company's renewal license a fee of one thousand dollars. Each professional bail bondsman shall pay a fee of one hundred dollars for renewal of the license; except that, if the applicant for renewal also holds a professional bail bond company license, then the applicant shall not be required to pay a renewal fee for a professional bail bondsman license.

Section 12. Any person may file a complaint stating facts constituting an alleged violation of sections 1 to 18 of this act. The complaint shall be signed under penalty of perjury. The board shall investigate any alleged violation of sections 1 to 18 of this act. Any person aggrieved by the findings of the board may appeal as provided in chapter 536, RSMo. 2. The act or conduct of any professional bail bondsman who acts within the scope of the authority delegated to the professional bail bondsman shall also be deemed the act or conduct of the professional bail bond company for which the professional bail bondsman is acting as agent.

3. If the board finds that one or more grounds exist for the suspension or revocation of any license, the board may in its discretion request that formal charges be filed against the violator and that penalties as provided in sections 4 and 9 of this act be imposed.

4. If the board finds that one or more grounds exist for the suspension or revocation of a license and that the license has been suspended within the previous twenty-four months, then the board shall revoke the license. The board may not again issue a license pursuant to sections 1 to 18 of this act to any person or entity whose license has been revoked.

5. If the board determines that the public health, safety or welfare imperatively requires emergency action and incorporates a finding to that effect in the board's order, a summary suspension of a license issued pursuant to sections 1 to 18 of this act may be ordered pending an administrative hearing before the board, which shall be promptly instituted.

6. If a professional bail bond company license is suspended or revoked, no member of such company, or officer or director of such corporation shall be licensed or be designated in any license to exercise the powers thereof during the period of such suspension or revocation, unless the board determines upon substantial evidence that such member, officer or director was not personally at fault and did not acquiesce in the matter on account of which the license was suspended or revoked.

Section 14. 1. Any person who holds a valid license pursuant to sections 374.700 to 374.775, RSMo, on the effective date of this section may continue to engage in the bail bond business without licensure pursuant to sections 1 to 18 of this act for a period of one hundred twenty days after the effective date of this section without being guilty of a violation of section 4 of this act.

Section 19. A professional bail bond company as defined in section 3 of this act, a qualified surety as defined in section 3 of this act and an automobile club or association may issue a bond card to a person licensed as an operator which shall constitute evidence of the undertaking of bond by the company to assure the appearance in court for the offense charged of a person arrested or issued a traffic citation for a motor vehicle accident or traffic law violation up to and including the amount in dollars stated upon the face of the bond card.

Section 20. 1. A surety shall be:

- (1) A professional bail bondsman acting through a professional bail bond company; or

Other proof may also be taken in regard to the sufficiency of the surety. Prior to submission to the court, the statement shall also be signed by the sheriff or chief of police in the jurisdiction where the defendant is charged. Proof that the surety is a professional bail bondsman shall be deemed sufficient proof of the sufficiency of the surety and the surety shall be accepted by all courts in this state or by any officer of the court authorized to take bail.
- 3. No person shall be taken as surety unless the court is satisfied, from proof and examination on oath, of the sufficiency of the person according to the requirements of subsection 2 of this section. Where more than one person is offered as surety, they shall be deemed sufficient if, in the aggregate, they possess the qualifications required.

Section 21. 1. If the surety is not a professional bail bondsman, the officer of the court who takes the bail shall file a statement with the court describing the property of the surety upon which the sufficiency of the surety is based. The description of the property shall include the value of the property. The statement shall also be signed by the sheriff or chief of police in the jurisdiction where the defendant is charged.

2. The officer who takes bail shall give a written receipt for the collateral. The receipt shall give in detail a full account of the collateral received.

3. An officer who takes bail shall not be liable for any unsecured bond order by a judicial officer.

4. Any person, where a warrant was issued for failing to appear before a court on any violation of municipal housing codes, shall be required to post a fully secured bond.

Section 22. No attorney, solicitor or counselor at law or in equity, clerk, sheriff or other person concerned in the execution of any process shall become a personal guarantor or surety in any criminal proceeding unless such proceeding involves a family member within the second degree of consanguinity of such person.

Section 23. 1. The undertaking of the surety, other than by a professional bail bondsman, shall be in substantially the following form:

..... (name of defendant), being in custody, charged with the offense of (naming or briefly describing the charges), and being admitted to bail in the sum of dollars, (name of surety), of (surety's place of residence), hereby undertakes that the above named defendant shall appear in the court on the day of its term to answer to such charge, and shall at all times render himself/herself amenable to the orders and process of such court in the prosecution of such charge, and, if convicted, shall render himself/herself in execution thereof; or if he/she fails to perform either of these conditions, that I will pay to the appropriate court the sum of dollars.

2. If the surety is a professional bail bondsman, the undertaking of the surety shall be in a form prescribed by the regulations of the board.

Section 24. No prosecution, appeal, nonresident or attachment bond, nor any other statutory bonds of any party, plaintiff or defendant in any court, in this state, nor any recognizance in any criminal cause in this state, shall be declared null and void for the want of form, if the intent of the bond can be plainly deduced from the body of the bond or recognizance.

Section 25. 1. No bail bond or recognizance shall be deemed to be invalid by reason of any variance between its stipulations and the provisions of sections 1 to 31 of this act, or of the failure of the judge or officer to transmit or deliver the bail bond or recognizance at the times provided in sections 1 to 31 of this act, or of any other irregularity, so that it is made to appear that the defendant was legally in custody, charged with a public offense, and that the defendant was discharged therefrom by reason of the giving of the bond or recognizance, and that it can be ascertained from the bond or recognizance that the surety undertook that the defendant should appear before a judge for the trial thereof.

2. If no day is fixed for the appearance, or an impossible day, or a day in vacation, the bond or recognizance, if for the defendant's appearance before a judge, shall be considered as binding the defendant so to appear and surrender himself or herself into custody for an examination of the charge in twenty days from the time of the defendant's giving the bond or recognizance. The bond or recognizance, if for the defendant's appearance for trial in court, shall be considered as binding the defendant to appear and surrender himself or herself into custody on the first day of the next term of the court which shall commence more than ten days after the giving of the bond or recognizance.

Section 26. 1. At any time before the judgment of the bond, the surety may surrender the defendant, or the defendant may surrender himself or herself, to the jailer of the county in which the offense was committed; provided that, the surrender shall be accompanied by a certified copy of the bail bond to be delivered to the jailer, who shall detain the defendant in custody thereon as upon a commitment and give a written acknowledgment of the surrender. The surety shall upon such surrender be exonerated.

2. For the purpose of surrendering the defendant, the surety may obtain from the officer having in the officer's custody the bail bond or recognizance a certified copy thereof, and thereupon at any place in the state may arrest the defendant, or by the surety's written endorsement thereon, authorize any licensed surety recovery agent to do so.

3. The surety may arrest the defendant without the certified copy as provided in subsection 2 of this section.

4. No premium shall be retained by the surety upon return of the defendant unless good cause has been shown in the court in which the bond is pending. Good cause shall not be based solely on the failure of the defendant making payment pursuant to a credit or installment agreement with the surety.

Section 27. Whenever the defendant is admitted to bail in a specified sum, the defendant may deposit the sum with an officer authorized by law or rule of court to accept bail for the court in which the trial is directed to be had and take from such officer a certificate of the deposit, upon delivering such certificate to the officer who has the defendant in custody, the defendant shall be discharged. After bail has been taken, a deposit may, in like manner, be made of the sum mentioned in the bail bond, which shall exonerate the surety. Where money is deposited, the circuit or municipal clerk shall deposit the money in the court fund or the city treasury, whichever is appropriate, and pay the money according to the orders of the court having jurisdiction to try the offense, and the circuit clerk or city treasurer and their sureties shall be liable for the money on their official bond. Upon judgment being rendered against a defendant for fine and costs, the court rendering judgment may order any money deposited as provided in this section to be applied to the payment of such fine and costs. The provisions of this section shall not apply to a bail bond of a bail bondsman.

Section 28. 1. If the defendant fails to appear for trial or judgment, or at any other time when the defendant's presence in court may be lawfully required, or to surrender himself or herself in execution of the judgment, the court may direct such fact be entered on the record, and shall issue an order requiring the surety to appear, on a date set by the court not less than ninety days after the issuance of the order, to show cause why the sum specified in the bail bond or the money deposited in lieu of bail should not be forfeited. If at such date set by the court the surety deposits the full amount of the bond, then no judgment shall be entered for ninety days. The order shall also require the officer who was responsible for taking of bail to appear unless:

(1) The surety is a bail bondsman; or

(2) The officer accepted cash in the amount of bail.

2. The appropriate law enforcement agencies shall make every reasonable effort to apprehend the defendant. If the defendant is surrendered, arrested or good cause is shown for the defendant's failure to appear before judgment is entered against the surety, the court shall exonerate the surety's liability under the bail bond except for any actual or related costs for securing or transporting the defendant. If the defendant has not surrendered or been arrested prior to judgment against the surety, the bail bond or money deposited in lieu of bail may be forfeited.

3. If before judgment is entered against the surety, the defendant is located in another state, and the location is known, the professional bail bondsman shall have the first opportunity to return such defendant to the proper court. If the bondsman is unable to return such defendant the appropriate law enforcement officers shall cause the arrest of the defendant and the surety shall be liable for the reasonable costs in returning the defendant to the court in an amount not to exceed the face value of the bail bond.

Section 29. When money is deposited in lieu of bail and the court finds that such money is forfeited, the circuit court or the city treasurer, whichever is appropriate, shall transfer such sum deposited as bail pursuant to section 56.310, RSMo, and section 166.131, RSMo.

Section 30. A bail bond shall be discharged within three years of issuance of the bond to the court unless forfeiture occurs or the case is pending and the surety notified. Prior to expiration of the three-year period the court shall give notice of any such discharge or forfeiture to the bail bond company.

Section 31. 1. A fee equal to ten dollars per bond shall be paid by a defendant to the bail bond company in addition to the premium and the company shall collect and forward such fee quarterly to the director of revenue not later than the last day of the month following the end of the quarter in which the fee is paid. The fee shall be collected and reported upon such forms and pursuant to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the director and the director shall retain not more than three percent for cost of collection and shall deposit all other moneys in the "Professional Bail Bondsman Licensing Board Administration Fund" which is hereby created in the state treasury. Money in the fund shall be available by appropriation to the board to pay its administrative costs arising from its duties pursuant to sections 1 to 31 of this act. All interest earned on money deposited in the fund shall be credited to such fund.

2. No rule or portion of a rule promulgated pursuant to the authority of this section shall become effective unless it has been promulgated pursuant to the provisions of section 536.024, RSMo.

3. Any bail bond company violating the provisions of this section requiring the collection and forwarding of fees shall, upon conviction, be guilty of a class D felony.

4. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the general assembly may appropriate up to one hundred thousand dollars for initial start-up costs from general revenue to be repaid to general revenue from the professional bail bondsman licensing board administration fund created in section 31 of this act.

Section 32. Sections 32 to 44 of this act shall be known as "The Surety Recovery Agent Licensure Act".

Section 33. As used in sections 32 to 44 of this act, the following terms mean:

- (1) "Board", the professional bail bondsman licensing board created in section 3 of this act;
- (2) "Licensed surety recovery agent", a person who is licensed as a surety recovery agent by the board;
- (3) "Surety recovery", the tracking down and capturing of a defendant who has violated a bail bond agreement.

Section 34. No person shall hold himself or herself out as being a surety recovery agent in this state, unless such person is licensed in accordance with the provisions of sections 32 to 44 of this act.

Section 35. The professional bail bondsman licensing board shall have authority to license all surety recovery agents in this state. The board shall have control and supervision over the licensing of such agents and the enforcement of the terms and provisions of sections 32 to 44 of this act.

Section 36. The board shall have power to:

- (1) Set and determine the amount of the fees which sections 32 to 44 of this act authorize and require. The fees shall be set at a level sufficient to produce revenue which shall not substantially exceed the cost and expense of administering sections 32 to 44 of this act;
- (2) Determine the sufficiency of the qualifications of applicants for licensure;
- (3) Issue credentials and identification documents and cards to surety recovery agents; and
- (4) Promulgate rules and regulations necessary to administer and enforce the provisions of sections 32 to 44 of this act, however, no rule or portion of a rule promulgated pursuant to the authority of sections 32 to 44 of this act shall become effective unless it has been promulgated pursuant to the provisions of section 536.024, RSMo.

Section 38. 1. A candidate for a surety recovery agent's license shall be at least twenty-one years of age. A candidate shall furnish evidence of such person's qualifications by completing an approved licensed surety recovery agent course with at least one hundred sixty hours of minimum training approved by the board, which shall include, but not be limited to, firearms safety and use, constitutional law and the legal use of force.

2. No license shall be granted unless the candidate or the professional bail bond company, as defined in section 1 of this act, employing such candidate has obtained a one million dollar bond or a one million dollar insurance policy insuring against any damages to persons or property caused by the candidate.

Section 39. The board shall issue a license to any surety recovery agent who is licensed or certified in another jurisdiction and who has had no violations, suspensions or revocations of a license or certification for surety recovery in any jurisdiction, provided that, such person is licensed or certified in a jurisdiction whose requirements are substantially equal to, or greater than, the requirements for licensing of surety recovery agents in Missouri at the time the applicant applies for a license and that the applicant has proof of a one million-dollar bond or one million-dollar liability insurance policy. Every applicant for a license pursuant to this section, upon making application and showing the necessary qualifications as provided in subsection 1 of this section, shall be required to pay the same fee as the fee required to be paid by resident applicants. 2. A blank form for the application for licensure renewal shall be mailed to each person licensed in this state at the person's last known address. The failure to mail the form of application or the failure of a person to receive it does not, however, relieve any person of the duty to be licensed and to pay the fee required by sections 32 to 44 of this act nor exempt such person from the penalties provided by sections 32 to 44 of this act for failure to be licensed.

Section 41. Each applicant for licensure renewal shall accompany such application with a licensure renewal fee to be paid to the director of the division of professional registration for the licensing period for which licensure renewal is sought.

Section 42. 2. No person shall hold himself or herself out to be a surety recovery agent in this state unless that person is licensed in accordance with the provisions of sections 32 to 44 of this act.

5. All revenue generated from the tax authorized under the provisions of this section shall be deposited into the "Medical Indigence Sales Tax Fund", which is hereby created in the state treasury. WHEREAS, the members of the Missouri Senate regard this state's law enforcement officers as an exceptionally dedicated group of professionals who continually serve as models of courage, efficiency, and effectiveness for their fellow officers across the nation; and

WHEREAS, law enforcement officers of the Missouri Highway Patrol, the Missouri Water Patrol, and various local sheriff departments and city police agencies recently brought to a successful conclusion one of the longest and most widely-covered manhunts in Missouri history; and

WHEREAS, on April 7, 1997, triple-murder suspect Alis Ben Johns, a skilled woodsman who had eluded police for five and a half months, was captured at a hunting cabin near Cole Camp, Missouri, where he was shot in the abdomen while attempting to use his girlfriend, Beverly Guehrer-McComb, as a shield; and

WHEREAS, the manhunt for Alis Ben Johns began on October 1, 1996, when the Pulaski County Sheriff and his deputies began a county-wide search for Johns as a suspect in the September 30 murder of Thomas Stewart of Dixon, Missouri, who was found dead of multiple gunshot wounds; and

WHEREAS, the search for Alis Ben Johns intensified after February 28, 1997, when Richland farmer Leonard Voyles was found murdered, and following the discovery of the shooting death of Newton County resident Wilma Bragg on March 10, the FBI and Missouri Highway Patrol joined authorities from three counties in the search for Mr. Johns, whom they suspected in all three homicides; and

WHEREAS, shortly before Alis Ben Johns was captured, members of the Missouri National Guard's 1139th military police company were activated to join law enforcement officers in the massive manhunt; and

WHEREAS, skill, expertise, and outstanding leadership contributed to the success of this dangerous mission, during which not one of the more than three hundred officers had sustained injury:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Missouri Senate, Eighty-ninth General Assembly, hereby join unanimously in applauding all the dedicated law enforcement officers involved with the successful capture of Alis Ben Johns and Beverly Guehrer-McComb for their admirable efforts in risking their own lives to ensure the safety and well-being of the public, including the officers of the Benton County Sheriff's Department; the Missouri State Highway Patrol; and the Missouri State Water Patrol; and the members of the 1139th Military Police Company of the Missouri National Guard; and

To suspend and revoke CSR 80-2.013

WHEREAS, The Department of Natural Resources filed notice of proposed rulemaking for 10 CSR 80-2.013 on October 10, 1996, and filed the order of rulemaking with the Committee on Administrative Rules on March 24, 1997 with notice of intent to file with the Secretary of State on April 23, 1997.

WHEREAS, the proposed rule requires an applicant for a solid waste disposal permit to conduct two separated public meetings known as "public awareness and community involvement session" at an estimated cost of $10,000 to the applicant.

WHEREAS, Sections 260.200 to 260.241 specifies the requirements for an application for a permit which not only does not require the applicant to conduct public meetings but rather requires the Department to hold such public hearings; and,

WHEREAS, the sole authority delegated to the Department to propose rules is specifically limited in Section 260.225. 1. (3) to "such rules and regulations relating to solid waste management systems"; and,

WHEREAS, the General Assembly has not delegated any rulemaking authority to the Department concerning the requirements for the application for a permit, but rather, the General Assembly has preempted the requirements for the application process which does not include the holding of public sessions and the attendant cost related thereto; and,

WHEREAS, the Committee on Administrative Rules has found that the Department has exceeded its rulemaking authority and recommends that the General Assembly act to permanently suspend and/or revoke 10 CSR 80-2.013

NOW THEREFORE, the General Assembly finds that:

1. 10 CSR 80-2.013 relates to the permit application process and purports to add additional requirements that are not provided in Sections 260.200 to 260.241; and;

2. The General Assembly has preempted the application process and has specified all of the requirements for obtaining a permit; and,

3. The Department has no authority to increase the requirements for obtaining a permit;

4. Section 260.225 limits the authority of the Department to issue rules to those rules related to the solid waste management systems and no authority has been delegated to the department to issue rules which create additional, substantive requirements necessary to apply for a permit.

NOW THEREFORE, The 89th General Assembly, upon concurrence of a majority of the members of the Senate and a majority of the members of the House of Representatives, hereby permanently suspends and revokes 10 CSR 80-2.013; and,
